Penna.-Ohio Electric Company Awards Contract For Big Improvement

TO SPEND $100,000 ON NEW STRUCTURE

Present Site On Corner Of Square And Rear Will Be Used For Building

Improvements representing an outlay of approximately $100,000 by the Penn-Ohio Electric Company were announced today by Louis B. Round, district manager for the company. The improvements will be in the nature of remodeling and enlargement of the present building on the northeast corner of the Public Square, making it one of the most modern public utility buildings in this section of the United States.

Work will start Monday morning, June 6, and the plans as drawn show a three-story addition to the back end of the building which will be done before the remodeling of the present plant starts. When completed the first floor of the building will be composed of a large lobby space to be used for a display room or show room, two large display windows in which will be shown the very best in electric appliances, and office space back of the display room.

Permanent Electric Display

In the display or show room will be a permanent electrical display which will be open to the public at all times. Back of the display room will be the cashier's department, with ample space to accommodate patrons, the contract department, and the securities department.

On the left side of the hall will be the office of the district manager, L. B. Round, the bureau of adjustment and at the rear of the building the trainmen's room.

Instead of a full second floor, there will be a mezzanine floor, with public waiting rooms and toilet facilities. It is planned that customers of the company can use the rooms for meeting places or committee meetings. Two display rooms will be on the second floor, where prospective patrons can see

Union High Class Commencement

Graduation Program Is Presented Thursday Evening In Senior Auditorium

DR. EISENBERG IS EVENING SPEAKER

Seniors of the Union High School held their Commencement exercises in the auditorium of the New Castle Senior High School Thursday night with several hundred people in attendance.

The main speaker of the evening was Dr. J. Linwood Eisenberg, president of Slippery Rock State Normal, who spoke on "The Value of an Education."

Invocation and benediction was given by Rev. S. H. Barlett.

Forthe two graduating students receiving the highest honors of the class, it must be said that Walter Keilar as Salutatorian and Clela Flemming as Valedictorian performed excellently in the presentation of their part of the program.

Catherine Hannon—high honor student of the Commercial department—also did very well in giving her address.

Following an address by R. F. Conway, principal of the school, W. C. McGrew, president of the school board, presented the following Seniors with their diplomas: Joseph Wochner, Thomas Grittie, Daniel Weyrick, Grace Kelso, Isable Wallace, Catherine King, Jessie Bonnett, Hazel Robinson, Evelyn Amberson, Emma Patton, Charles Llewellyn, Clela Flemming, Walter Keilar and Catherine Hannon.

PROM QUEEN AT INDIANA U.

Hailed as the fairest of Hoosier coeds, Miss Elizabeth Ferguson, Boonville, Ind., has the additional honor of reigning as queen of the junior prom at Indiana University.

No Identification As Yet Of Train Victim

No identification has yet been made of the man who was killed by a Pennsylvania train at Edenburg yesterday, although Coroner Caldwell has received a half dozen inquiries from persons who have missing relatives.

Although the man's head was badly mangled, enough of his face was left for friends to identify him should they be found. He was a man about five feet eight inches tall, medium build, black hair and black moustache, and had a vaccination mark much larger than the ordinary on the left arm. This mark is nearly two inches in diameter.

He wore a brown sweater coat, dark blue serge trousers and over them blue overalls, two silk shirts and a khaki shirt, black shoes. His clothing was good. His hands indicated that he had been a working man.

The body will be held at the Cunningham morgue in Lowellville, O., until Saturday, in the hope that it may be identified.

The man evidently intended to commit suicide, as he laid down on the tracks when the train was so close that the engineer could not stop in time to save him.

May Name Paris Streets For Fliers

(International News Service)

PARIS, June 3.—Capt. Charles Lindbergh may have a Paris street named after him. The newspaper Excelsior today suggested, and a member of the municipal council has agreed to propose that the council rename two Paris streets, calling one Nungesser and Coli and the other "Charles A. Lindbergh."

Just A Few Lines!

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, June 3. — Charlie was curious.

When Capt. Charles A. Lindbergh prepared to hop off from New York to Paris he wondered if the newspapers would notice his modest effort. So he left orders for a clipping bureau to dig up any items the newspapers might print.

Today, with two carloads of newspapers already piled up with an obligation of more than $1,000 for clipping service, Mrs. Evangeline L. Lindbergh, mother of the trans-Atlantic hero, ordered them stopped.

The order was transmitted through Henry Woodhouse, President of the Aerial League of America.

Good Will Fliers Here Saturday

TO BE GREETED BY COMMUNITY

Good Will Fliers that will fly over New Castle Saturday afternoon on their 9000 mile good-will tour will not be able to land at New Castle as there is no adequate landing field approved by the U. S. War Department, says A. W. Chilton, secretary of the New Castle Chamber of Commerce who extended to the fliers an invitation to land as the guests of the Chamber of Commerce and the city of New Castle.

Cannot Stop Here

Mr. Chilton said that the itinery of the fliers has been arranged beforehand and that it would be impossible for them to change their schedule. And although there are places where they might land with an ordinary type of airplane, the plane that they are using is of the amphibian type that will land on either land or water and the landing gear needs especially good landing facilities on land.

Mr. Chilton said that he was extremely sorry that they would not be able to land as both men are personal acquaintances and friends of his but that it was impossible to make such arrangements.

This good-will flight which is being made to many of the principal cities of the United States in a 9000 mile tour is being made by Major Herbert Dargue, commissioner of the recently completed Pan-American good will flight and President Walter O. Lochner of the national association of commercial organized secretaries.

Immediate Relief For Flood Victims Urged In Chicago

Delegates From Regions Hardest Hit By Flood Demand Quick Action

CONDITIONS ARE HORRIBLE, SAID

Disaster Facing Southerners Cannot Be Helped Six Months Hence

By FRED J. WALKER.
International News Service Staff Correspondent

CHICAGO, June 3.—A demand that immediate relief measures be considered, today threatened to split the middle western flood control conference as it swung into the second day of its deliberations over a plan to permanently tame the turbulent Mississippi and its tributaries.

Although the conference was called to consider plans for permanent flood control, a determined group of bankers, supported by delegates from regions hardest hit by the inundation today were preparing to carry a fight for relief action to the floor of the convention.

Randle T. Moore, Shreveport La., banker, one of the leaders of the relief forces, declared the victims could not wait for congressional action.

"The disaster facing the people of the flood area cannot be helped six months hence" he said. "It must be considered now or it may be too late. I am disappointed that no action for financial relief is propos-

Hunt For Youths In Dual Slaying

Police Of Wilkes-Barre Trying To Solve Mystery In Girls' Murder

KILLED BY SHOTS AT CLOSE RANGE

(International News Service)

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., June 3.—Saerch for the slayers of Jennie Monica, 19, and Edith Fonzo, 20, cousins, whose battered bodies were found in a lonely field near Pittston, Pa., yesterday, today centered on efforts to learn the identities of two youths with whom the girls are believed to have spent Memorial Day.

The girls' bodies, strangled and bullet riddled, were found near the wrecked car of Carmel Marranca, 34, of Pittston, who contended the machine had been stolen from in front of his home. Marranca's brother, Samuel, 22, who drove the car the day before the bodies were found, is sought.

Police today checked the list of known acquaintances of the two girls in an effort to learn if they had been seen often in the company of any particular pair.

The girls had apparently been attacked and then choked to death. Bullet wounds in the bodies indicated shots had been fired at close range.

The car in which they were believed to have been slain was found nearby, wrecked, with several bullet holes in the sides.

Two Sisters In Senior Class Make Record Of 22 Years Perfect School Attendance

Catherine McLaughlin Completing Entire School Career With Perfect Attendance

Sister Completing Eleven Years With Perfect Record, Also

A record of school attendance which would be hard to beat has been made by two sisters of the graduating class of the New Castle Senior high school, Catherine and Emmaline McLaughlin of Winter avenue.

Catherine has gone here entire school course from the time she entered school at the age of 6 without either missing a session or being tardy. Her older sister Emmaline almost equals her record as she has not missed or been tardy since her first year of school when she missed several days during an epidemic of measles, completing 11 years with perfect attendance.

Both girls have a perfect attendance record of 11 years, the younger sister being able to complete her course in one year shorter time than her sister. The first 9 years of this record was made in the schools of Midway, Pa., while the last two years have been made by attendance in the New Castle Senior high school.

Their mother, Mrs. T. E. McLaughlin says that in the beginning of their school years they instilled within the minds of the children lessons of punctuality and steady attendance and as they grew older the girls themselves were more anxious than the parents that they keep their record perfect. This is

Youth Is Killed On Crossing By Passenger Train

William R. Curley, Aged 20, Meets Death Near Carbon Brick Company Plant

FAILED TO SEE TRAIN'S APPROACH

William R. Curley, aged 20 years, driver for an Armour Packing Company truck from the Youngstown plant, was instantly killed when his truck was struck by a Pittsburgh and Lake Erie passenger train at the Carbon Brick Company crossing, Mahoning township, this county, Thursday evening.

Curley, whose home was in Youngstown and who had been employed by the Armour Company for about five weeks, had been delivering meat in the vicinity of the Carbon brick plant. It was toward dark when he started for Youngstown. The Carbon crossing is one of the most dangerous in the county. There are four or five tracks, and before they are reached from south there is a depression in the land which prevents a view of the tracks, except for a short distance. Curley drove onto the tracks just as a Pittsburgh and Lake Erie train, going west, came along. His truck was struck squarely. He was thrown from the seat to the tracks and badly mangled, his head, arms and legs being crushed.

The truck was demolished.

The train stopped and the body picked up and taken to a morgue in Youngstown. Coroner Caldwell was notified and is investigating.

According to officials of the Armour plant young Curley was a careful driver.

Claims Wife Left Babies At Home To Attend Wild Parties

BY ARTHUR L. MAREK
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LOS ANGELES, June 3.—Counter-charges by Charlie Chaplin that his young wife had love affairs with two men for whom, he said, she neglected her home and babies to attend gay drinking parties, today prompted attorneys for Lita Grey Chaplin to move for a speedy trial of her divorce suit against the film comedian.

With the possibility of a settlement of the Chaplin's marital difficulties out of court apparently blocked by the comedian's cross-suit for divorce, Mrs. Chaplin's counsel indicated her answer would be filed next week, thus paving the way for the trial within thirty days, the earliest prescribed by law.

Meanwhile, the actor's lawyers here were scrutinizing Mrs. Chaplin's deposition, just completed, which is expected to be used as an additional legal weapon for the comedian in the impending court fight.

Lindy Uses Borrowed English Plane For Trip This Morning

By WILLIAM P. CARNEY
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PARIS, June 3.—Captain Charles A. Lindbergh, America's hero of the skies, arrived back in Paris today. He landed at Le Bourget flying field at 10:02 o'clock after a battle with fog that delayed his flight from London.

Flying at a great height and unescorted by any other plane, Lindbergh arrived over Le Bourget flying field shortly before 10 o'clock. He circled over the field several times descending into lower altitude at each spiral and then made a perfect landing.

Attaches of the flying field rushed out to greet him and congratulate him upon his venturesome flight from England.

Waits on Fog to Lift

Lindbergh had left Kenley airdrome, near London, at 6:20 o'clock, but had to descend at Lympne, on the English side of the channel at 6:58 and was detained there about on hour and 15 minutes until the fog lifted over the water where he again hopped off at 8:13 o'clock. This time he was able to continue on to Le Bourget without further interruption although the air was thick with mist.

Having been disappointed once (when fog prevented Lindbergh from making his flight yesterday) the French did not turn out in such

Prison Warden To Fight Removal Of Leopold And Loeb

Warden At Joliet Prison Terms Rumor To Free Franks Slayers Is "Bunk"

Noted Psychicatrist Visits Leopold In Cell; Youthful Slayer Questioned

(International News Service)

JOLIET, Ill., June 3.—Any attempt to transfer Nathan Leopold, Jr., or Richard Loeb, slayers of Bobbie Franks, to an asylum on the pretext of insanity will be blocked, according to a statement made today by Warden Elmer Green.

The warden's announcement was the aftermath of a 30 minute visit yesterday afternoon at the Stateville prison between Dr. Bernard Glueck, former psychicatrist at Sing Sing prison, and Young Leopold, who, with Richard Loeb is serving life imprisonment.

"I'll wager Leopold and Loeb will never get out of prison as long as I am warden, in spite of any kind of mental examinations," was the challenge Warden Green made.

The warden termed the rumor that a fight was on to free Leopold from prison as "the bunk."

"Leopold and Loeb are as sane now as the day they entered prison here," he said.

Records at the Warden's office show that Leopold has never shown signs of mental disorder.

Deputy Warden Frank Kness, in charge of the Stateville prison, said he was present during the interview between Dr. Glueck and Leopold.

"The interview did not take on the aspect of an examination, just sort of a friendly visit," Mr. Kness said.

Deputy Kness reported Dr. Glueck asked Leopold several questions regarding his health, work and studies.

They are scheduled to take lunch at Erie as the guests of Erie Chamber of Commerce and will pass over New Castle on their way to McKeesport where they will be entertained Saturday evening as guests of the Chamber of Commerce of that city.

will return to the front on Saturday, where he will take personal command in a drive against Shantung.

Fighting during the past few days has indicated that the Nationalist troops are superior to those Shantung forces they have engaged and unless reinforcements come to the aid of the Shantung armies, it seems very probable that the Nationalists will shortly be in Shantung territory.

Reports received here today stated that the United States marines who sailed yesterday for northern ports will not take up stations along the Tientsin-Peking railroad as at first reported, but will be stationed in Peking and Tientsin.

Service on the Tientsin-Peking railroad is already threatened with disruption.

The northward movement of the marines is characterized here as entirely precautionary, and it is understood that it is aimed chiefly to protect against mob attacks on Americans, as there is a general feeling that Chiang Kai Shek will take measures to prevent the repitition of the Nanking incidents in Tientsin and Peking if his troops reach those cities.

court here, was in the form of a cross-complaint; accompanied by an answer to his wife's divorce action in which he denied her charges of cruelty.

The two men with whom Chaplin alleges his wife associated were not named in the complaint. They were referred to as "a certain young man" and as an "automobile salesman," whom Chaplin "disliked" and of whom he "entirely disapproved."

The comedian charged Mrs. Chaplin was "infatuated" with "a certain young man" and continued to associate with him despite her husband's remonstrances, meeting him secretly and inviting him to her home while Chaplin was at work.

His wife confided to friends, Chaplin asserted, that she was "crazy about" an "automobile salesman", with whom she was "being seen in public places, dancing at all hours of the night and drinking liquor."

Chaplin further charged that his wife "habitually occupied her time dancing in hotels, cafes and beach resorts in and near Los Angeles", thereby "absenting herself from her home to the grivious neglect of her two children." On numerous occasions, the comedian accused, his wife did not return home until two or three o'clock in the morning and often she was accompanied by the anonymous automobile man. Frequently she invited him to the Chaplin home and entertained him and others "at which times liquor was drunk to excess."

Wife Angered.

When he remonstrated, Chaplin stated, his wife became angered and replied that she did not intend to change her mode of life to please him and suggested that he arrange for a divorce.

At the same time, Chaplin said, his wife asked him coldly "what financial arrangements" he would make with her in the event of a divorce. He assured her, he said, that he would give her all that she was entitled to under the law, without litigation. In this connection, Chaplin estimated his fortune at $1,250,000, of which he claimed only $266,932.83 was community property.

Complaining that the Chaplin home was "big and gloomy" and that the "atmosphere" was making her "nervous", Mrs. Chaplin, according to the actor's suit, "increased her indulgence in vain and frivolous pleasures, drank liquor to excess and while under the influence of liquor conducted herself in an unwomanly and undignified manner."

The comedian also charged his wife with "ruinous extravagance" and said she spent $10,000 on her recent voyage to Honolulu.

Chaplin alleged his wife's divorce suit had stigmatized their elder son, Charles Spencer, Jr., who is now 22 months of age. The other Chaplin child, Sidney Earle, is thirteen months old. Chaplin seeks the custody of both.

WORK WILL START MONDAY ON NEW P. & O. BUILDING

for themselves just what effects can be accomplished in the way of lighting their homes. The mezzanine floor, according to the plans, will be a thing of beauty and should be a show spot for the company and for the city.

The third floor will contain the offices of C. C. Coulthard, superintendent of railway service; the dispatchers' office, bookkeeping department and service and meter division. The fourth floor will have a large assembly room and storage space. The plans are so drawn that in the near future a fifth floor can be added for additional facilities.

Service and Beauty

Service and beauty are combined in the plans for what really constitutes a new building. While the present walls will remain, this is about all, for the interior will be entirely changed and the paramount thought in the remodeling is service to patrons and beauty of design. The building will be fireproof throughout, with a fire tower in the center of the building.

George Lusk has the general contract for the remodeling, the Withers Sons Company has the contract for the plumbing, and the Bartley Electric Company the contract for the electrical work. Insofar as possible all supplies will be purchased from New Castle dealers, with New Castle men doing the work.

The addition to the building is to be ready by the middle of August, and immediately after that the remodeling of the present building will start, with this to be done in November.

Town Talk

Strangers find that the police department of the city is very courteous and very kindly disposed, when it comes to the matter of violating parking regulations of this city.

They must of course, reckon on Sergeant F. M. Jones, who is a good collector, but if they are civil and do not knock the old town, they will find themselves exonerated.

You can't beat the motorist, it is said, even if he is hard up. Here's a story of a motorist, who over the Memorial Day season, although lacking funds, was determined to have an outing, even at the expense of his stomach.

Yes it's true and it happened in New Castle.

This particular motorist had a good job until recently. He had a regular grocer and paid his bills, too. Then he got behind, but the kind groceryman kept providing the food needed, expecting better things later.

Just before Memorial Day, the motorist in question walked into the place of business of Friend Grocer and asked if he had any fresh eggs. He was informed that they were available. He had four dozen placed in a basket and of course, he had them charged.

Imagine the surprise and chagrin of the grocer when he learned that his customer took the eggs to a nearby gasoline station and traded them for gasoline for the holiday trip. The motorist is hunting a new grocer.

According to Peter Hess, street car motorman, William R. Lyons of 408 Martin street, has discovered something new in the way of gasoline and automobiles. Lyons reports that he drove his flivver 80 miles on two gallons and a half of gasoline, Hess reports.

FRANCE BESTOWS MORE HONORS ON U. S. LONE EAGLE great numbers as had been expected.

In view of the fact that this visit is "unofficial" there were no ceremonies at the flying field after the American arrived.

Lindbergh made a double landing. His machine came down first upon the civil aviator's field, but at it lightly touched the ground Lindbergh decided that he ought to land in military ground as he was flying a British fighting plane, so he took off and flew very low over the intervening ground to the military hangars only 500 yards away.

In British Plane

The American flew in a British Royal air force fighting plane that had been placed at his disposal for the trip. He was escorted as far as the channel by British machines, which turned back at that point.

Immediately after Lindbergh's arrival 12 French military airplanes went up and began flying formation stunts in honor of the American.

Lindbergh watched with keen interest the graceful evolutions of the planes above the flying ground, noting the skill of the French pilots. It was a high honor for a civilized flyer, but Lindbergh's courage and skill are such that the French hold him equal to any military ace.

In the meantime Lindbergh's borrowed plane was being rolled into a military hangar which was immediately locked up so souvenir hunters would not get at it and damage it.

The American airman entered the hangar and it was there that the formal greetings took place.

The party that welcomed the young flyer were Parmely Herrick, son of Myron T. Herrick, American ambassador to France; F. B. Mahoney, president of the Ryan airlines, builders of "The Spirit of St. Louis"; a few attaches of the American embassy and some French officials.

An Imperial Airways plane—a passenger carrying machine— from Croydon, just outside of London, landed at Le Bourget five minutes after Lindbergh.

One of the passengers, M. Ehrlich, told an interesting story about the flight.

Followed Plane

"We followed Lindbergh from Lympne," said M. Ehrlich, "and we were certainly thrilled and entertained by what we saw. When he got out over the English channel he began to do 'stunts' for his own amusement. He looped the loop and went through other evolutions whose names I do not know. But once on the French side of the channel Lindbergh made a straight line for Paris and flew at high speed without any more evolutions."

M. Ehrlich said that fog was encountered all the way from England to the French flying field. He said that from Lympne to Le Bourget Lindbergh flew at an average altitude of 3,000 feet.

Elaborate police precautions had been taken to handle a great crowd of men and women but they were not needed. In addition to newspaper reporters and photographers there were only a score or two of civilians, but they made up in enthusiasm what they lacked in numbers.

Leaves For Paris

Lindbergh's baggage, including a hat box and a package, was placed in the American embassy Rolls Royce and at 10:20 the car departed for Paris bearing Lindbergh, Harrick and Capt. White, of the embassy staff. Mahoney followed in another car.

Lindbergh remained secluded in the embassy during the morning but he went to luncheon in the Bois de Bologne headquarters of the International League of aviators and again it was demonstrated that the French have not had enough of this young hero for hundreds lined the Bois to cheer him.

At the International League of aviators luncheon on behalf of the league Lindbergh presented the Japanese aviator Abe, through the Japanese embassy, with a trophy for his flight from Tokyo to Paris. He also presented the league's medal to Captain Pelletier D'Oisy for the most notable French aviation achievement in 1926, his long flight to the east.

During the luncheon President Clifford Harmon announced that William Randolph Hearst has accepted the presidency of the American division of the league.

Made Honorary Member

Paris, June 3.—Captain Charles A. Lindbergh was a boy in short trousers when the World War was being fought, but today he was made an honorary member of the Lafayette Escadrille, one of the most famous air fighting units of the war.

At a luncheon at the International League of aviators Dr. Edmund L. Gros, founder of the Lafayette Escadrille, presented Lindbergh with a medal making him the only honorary member of the Escadrille.

"When you arrived, I heard a French woman say, 'I think it is the spirit of our son coming back to us,'" said Dr. Gros. "You represent the incarnate spirit of all the fliers who died during the war. Had you been old enough we know that you would have been one of the first to offer your life if necessary in France."

"This means more to me than anything I have received in Europe," replied Lindbergh, who appeared greatly moved by the honor paid him. "Few things could mean more than this to me."

"I am leaving tomorrow," said Lindbergh, "but it would be weeks or even months before I left if the choice were left to me. I will take the first opportunity to return to France."

President Harmon of the league gave Lindbergh one of the league's medals to present to President Coolidge.

Lindbergh again asked Captain White, naval attache at the American embassy, to make further efforts to secure the return of his flying helmet—which he lost last week while flying over Paris.

"I'd like to have it before I leave, but if you get it later please send it to me," said Lindbergh who regards this helmet, which he made largely by himself as a talisman.

When Lindbergh was asked if he postponed his flight from London yesterday because he felt he couldn't make the hop against adverse weather conditions, he replied, "personally I never had any doubt at all, but remember I was borrowing a plane, and as a guest I couldn't leave until my hosts thought it advisable."

In reporting a washout on the Canadian Pacific the section foreman wired a complete report to the superintendent, gave all details as to mile posts, bridges, track distance, etc., to which the superintendent wired back instructions to make the wire report shorter in the future and follow the message up with the details in a letter.

Several weeks later another washout occurred, the section foreman wiring:

shown by the fact that the younger girl had a rib broken several weeks ago during the game with Coraopolis at Pittsburgh and never told her teachers and parents for fear she might have to miss school.

Boy Is Comer

Another member of the family is also out for a record in Thomas, who has gone 9 years with a perfect record with the exception of ½ a day in his first year. But the youngest of the family, David, who is now about 10 years old has had the hard luck of the family. This little soldier has had three or four operations as well as other sickness that has spoiled his attendance record.

Both girls stand high in their classes too, says F. L. Orth, principal of the high school. Catherine and Emmaline both stand among the first 20 per cent of the graduating class. Catherine also has been active in athletics although she has not been permitted to enter the more strenuous contests by the school physician.

Catherine has shown special musical ability and plans to continue her music after graduation this spring. She plans to take work with the National Art Society of St. Louis.

Emmaline plans to enter college this fall, her mother states, and hopes to take up some welfare or missionary work after she graduates from college.

The girls' father, Thomas E. McLaughlin has been connected with the Knox and Morehead Insurance agency since they came from Midway two years ago. The parents of these two daughters have cause to feel proud of the record that would be hard to equal anywhere in the country.

The world is growing better. You'll find a much higher type of people in jail now.

FLYING THROUGH AFRICA

SPEAKING of air pioneering, let it not be overlooked that four planes of the British royal air force have just completed a notable flight of 11,000 miles, from Cairo to Capetown and back.

The flight is described as a success in every respect. The fliers carried out their program without a hitch. The engines ran perfectly, and returned in such good condition that it is believed they could duplicate the voyage without overhauling.

Obviously this generation is breeding good airmen and making good motors.

That stretch between the tips of the African continent must be interesting to fly over. Two details of the airmen's report may interest Americans. They "found the roads in good condition everywhere, and saw many motor cars, mostly American, in Central Africa."

Also they passed over several herds of elephants. How long will those elephants last, with airplanes droning overhead and elephant guns popping at them from the clouds?

NEIGHBORLINESS

WHEN L. C. Bender, a farmer living near Webster, S. D., found himself laid up in the hospital with no prospect of early release, and the spring rapidly passing, he disconsolately gave up all hope of getting his crops in. There wasn't a chance in the world. Anticipation of a cropless year retarded his recovery.

Bender, however, reckoned without his neighbors. Suddenly one day 18 of them swooped down on his farm with 30 teams, 15 seed-drills and a tractor, without saying a word to Bender about it, and plowed and seeded that farm in almost no time. They made a good job of it. And they left word for Bender that they had done it as a testimonial of their appreciation of a good friend and neighbor. Now Bender will have a crop to harvest, and will probably be able to harvest it when the time comes.

There's still considerable neighborliness left in this hard old world, in the country and in the city, and the man who calls it forth is the man who himself is a good neighbor.

BETTER BUSINESS ETHICS

IT IS a wholesome sign of the times that business and professional men are much concerned over the ethics of their own particular occupations. Many trade associations, service clubs and other commercial bodies have committees on business standards and printed codes of ethics to guide their members. Colleges and universities offer lecture courses on the subject, books are being written on it and there are organizations dedicated to the improvement of the standards of business conduct.

However, the public is not overly impressed by mere organization or printed codes, standards and platforms. It judges the ethics of a business by the ethics of the individual members of that business. It does not buy goods from trade associations, but from individual concerns. What really matters is not the publicly announced and purposely high-sounding and sonorous code of an impersonal association, but the actual everyday conduct of the individual business man, firm and corporation.

But there is not a consumer who has not convinced himself by actual experience that merchants, especially, are doing more than talking about service. Modern business has learned that "honesty is the best policy" and that "he profits most who serves best." And it matters little to the consumer whether business is rendering better service for purely selfish reasons or because it has become morally conscious.

Profits are a worthy, honorable goal, but if they are the only aim of business, then the commercial system is doomed. And it follows naturally that, since the commercial system shows no evidence of decay, profits are not the one and only goal of modern business.

Ontario shouldn't emphasize those liquor permits too much. There are better reasons than booze for visiting Canada.

Germany has issued a five-volume report justifying her for disregarding international law in the recent war. But that doesn't make it unanimous.

Many persons are able to beat opportunity knocking.

Money may get a man into trouble, but it is usually more helpful in getting him out.

Just Folks

By EDGAR A. GUEST

THE COMMON TOPIC

In parlors, dens and smoking rooms,
And all the other places,
The human face at times illumes
And conversation races:
I know ere long one will begin
To talk of whisky and of gin.

Time was that politics and art
And books drew public mention.
Among the witty and the smart
Music got some attention.
But prohibition days have come
And conversation reeks with rum.

Let two or three foregather now
To chat awhile or dicker,
One there will find the way somehow
To turn the talk to liquor.
Start any subject that you choose,
Somebody's bound to mention booze.

I'm weary of the talk of gin;
I wish our glorious nation
Could find a way to stop the din
Of whiskey conversation.
It seems to me the public mind
Some other topic ought to find.

Hints and Dints

Sun sets tonight 7:26. Sun rises tomorrow 4:30.

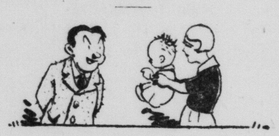
When Capt. Lindbergh gets back home and lands in Washington he will find out what a real reception is. It will be old home week in all parts of the United States.

Some of the nastiest scraps occur in purity wars. Both sides seem to want to go the limit and they do.

England is about to get on the outs with Egypt. Those foreign nations cannot wait until they get one war paid for before they want to get into one another's wool again.

You've got to have money to make money isn't of so much satisfaction to most of us as the fact that without money you can't lose much.

The chief of police of Windsor, Can., is named Dan Thompson and he declared that he would not stand for any rough stuff when the two saloons opened up for business in his city. Wonder if he is any kin to Sam Thompson, once a noted citizen of this country.



Yet the boldest realist will fake when shown a new infant and asked what he thinks of it.

A Baptist missionary refused to locate in Chicago in 1823 because the place was such an unimportant village. If a flock of missionaries were to locate there now they would have to have lots of police protection.

It almost seems that the awkward age for most girls is when you ask 'em to dance.

The wife of a high school teacher in Kansas City declares that the trouble with the world today and always has been, is that too many antiquated dumb bells have been the mothers of the race. We don't know what she means by that.

One thing is being demonstrated every day in this country and that is that women often do not get well enough acquainted with the men they marry before it is too late. Many even claim in their divorce petitions that they did not know what they were doing or were scared into getting married also.

Premature Fourth of July celebrators and also those who cannot wait for Hallowe'en should be arrested and given a salty fine. It would not be long until there would be order and decency in the celebrations.

A magazine is being published exclusively for bootleggers now. Those boys have to know what is going on in their line of course and the trade paper route seems to be the easiest to tell them of the new stuff that is coming out—or perhaps it might be more appropriate to say going in.

They cut a man open to remove his appendix and he didn't have any—ain't science wonderful.

Liquor bought in the newly opened suds parlors in Canada must be consumed at home. Now if those who drink it also stay at home until the fight wears off it things may not be so bad.

The preacher member of the school board at Martinsburg, W. Va., will stand for nothing but that school teachers in that city wear dresses that reach from the Adam's apple to the ankles. That chap is a prude all right and his school, may be shy of teachers if that rule is enforced.

Spending thirty seconds waiting for the train to pass saves some one an hour's work picking up the pieces.

White bathing suits have been banned on the beaches in California because they make the wearer look as if no clothing at all was being worn. Some that wear dark bathing suits surely do not look as if they had very much on either.

A fellow usually doesn't care a snap about money until he hasn't any.

Wicked movies will not hurt the morals of those who haven't any.

There is a difference between the money that men spend. Some of it is hard earned, and some of it is hardly earned.

If legislative bodies do not quit legislating the lawyers never will catch up with their work.

Too many men are of the mistaken opinion that sufficient cussing will provide a remedy. We know because we have tried it.

Those snap ties are handy but with 'em it's almost impossible for a fellow to get anywhere in society.

Someway in the evening a fellow hates to put on his tuxedo unless he hasn't got one.

SALESMANSHIP

We are salesmen, each one,
As you surely must see,
For I'm selling to you
And you're selling to me;
We are selling ourselves
To the people we know,
And they estimate us
By the worth that we show.

We are selling our town
To the people outside,
We describe it as quite
A fine place to reside;
And we sell to those men
Who would money invest,
The advantages here
We uphold as the best.

The mechanic must sell
The employer his skill,
And deliver the goods
If the place he would fill;
Ev'ry workman must sell
Honest service, 'tis plain,
If employment he'd find
And a livelihood gain.

The great preacher must sell
His own goodness and worth
If he'd lead men to Christ
And to seek the new birth.
And the president, too,
Of the college must sell
The great school that he serves—
Its advantages tell.

So we're salesmen, I say,
Each one striving to sell
His ideas in mind
On the thing he does well.
We are selling ourselves
To our neighbors and friends,
And the price we receive
On our true worth depends.

What New Castle needs at the present time is more payrolls and also to protect the ones it now has.

After a trip abroad in which he visited London, Paris, Berlin, Rome and other prominent places of the old world, a man said the part he enjoyed most of all was the trip over and back, and advised us if we ever went to Europe not to miss the trip over and back. Though we have no intentions of going to Europe at the present time we readily agreed that the trip over and back was important.

A woman we know has so many labor-saving devices around her home that she says she has to discharge the maid and get a service man to keep them going. There is a solution as to what to do with the extra men around town. Make them chauffers for electric washing machines.

We have no objections to the use of cosmetics by women in a reasonable way, but we don't like a girl that looks lacquered.

Some people profess to see a war brewing between Great Britain and Russia since the English have broken off diplomatic relations with the soviet government. We have our doubts about the war coming, but if it should it is a good chance to make both countries pay up old accounts before they can get any more money or any more supplies.

The Pullman Car Company has changed its policy of naming its cars unpronounceable names, but is calling them after ordinary people. Thus the first care made under the new name policy has been labeled "John Smith". But it costs just as much to ride for a night in "John Smith" as it did in "Juneldo". Now if Pullman rates would get as common as the Pullman names, everything would be Jake.

If we now had a law making it treason to be a Democrat we should have a country on the Mussolini model.

King Ben, of the House of David people, isn't acting very much like a king. In the old days when kings were beheaded they walked to the block with their heads in the air and took their medicine. But King Ben seems to be too weak to even go to court.

Forty thousand germs are said to be transferred in every goodnight kiss, but not in the ones a baby gives its mother.

It is hard in this present age to convince the young men that a lawn mower is a great piece of mechanism.

If we could train ourselves to look on each morning as the beginning of a glorious adventure it might help to make life worth living.

Doctors claim that worry causes bad teeth. About the only thing that hasn't been laid to worry are corns and bunions.

President Coolidge continues to send all his gift animals to the United States zoo. His cup of joy might be full to overflowing if he could send a few United States Senators there also.

June sun hasn't warmed up the atmosphere yet very much but the politicians are beginning to make things hum and it looks like a warm summer in spite of the weather, whether it is good or bad.

The April showers that are to bring May flowers have brought something else if you go out in the gardens you can see them.

Lindy Saw the Horses.
Flood Subsiding.
Much Wisdom Set Free.
Real Protection.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

Lindbergh, who rode his flying-machine across the Atlantic ocean, 3,600 miles, in thirty-three hours, faster than 100 miles to the hour, helped the King of England watch the Derby. He saw Call Boy win the mile-and-a-half race in two minutes thirty-four and two-fifths seconds, breaking the record.

The race horse is as much out of date as the Queen of Sheba's camel. But gambling is in the blood, stimulates all dull minds that have no imagination, delights weak wills that have no definite purpose. The English Derby has been run yearly for 144 years. It will probably be run 144 years hence.

Except for one spot, flood danger seems to be past. Herbert Hoover, and President Coolidge, who selected him to take charge of the great calamity, are to be congratulated upon the efficiency with which it has been handled. Between 600,000 and 700,000 have been rescued by government and other boats, taken to camps, sheltered, fed and restored to their lands as the water receded.

And among the hundreds of thousands of whom many had to be rescued almost by force, refusing to believe that the water was coming, the known deaths will not exceed two or three.

Already cotton and other crops are being planted behind the receding waters. Arrangements are made for any outbreaks of illness that may follow the flood.

The general health will be better, a death rate lower than before. Every one of the hundreds of thousands admitted into camps was vaccinated against smallpox and typhoid before admittance.

Those who have contributed to flood sufferers through the Red Cross will be glad to know that their money has been handled under Secretary Hoover's direction, which means that it has been well spent. You are urged to respond generously to the request for further assistance.

But for modern scientific methods and instruments, this greatest flood in the history of man since Bible days would have been a calamity beyond conception, with tens of thousands dead and disease sweeping over great areas.

Modern science, flying machines, radio, fast motor boats, all the resources of government and of engineering have worked with admirable results to minimize this calamity.

Eighteen thousand guests saw 5,007 graduate at one university, Columbia College, Wednesday. Much wisdom is turned loose on the world and unfortunately, much over-confidence that must have its bruises and disappointments before the world makes it really useful.

If there were only a university that could make men think, instead of making them believe that they really know.

This moral, well meaning country wonders how to end war, and has a vague idea that the first step is to disarm. That should be the last step taken, perhaps ten or a hundred thousand years hence.

Civilized nations that want peace should keep themselves so powerful that more barbarous nations would not dare make a move toward war. Everything should be used to back up the command to less civilized peoples "Thou shalt not make war." Orders are obeyed when power is back of them.

IT WON'T BE NECESSARY—

To spend so much for police if we spend more for playgrounds.
To argue so much for religion when we demonstrate it a little more.
To censor the movies when we have a public taste for good pictures.
To give as much for charity when some folks get a little more justice.
To spend so much for war if we spend more on cultivating good will.
To offer so many apologies if we do more thinking before talking.
To worry so much about death if we pay more attention to life.

A good many politicians are worrying their heads off about a second elective term for President Coolidge but they are not doing anything to restrict their own terms as congressmen or senator, and some are serving the third or fourth.

Dr. Crane's Editorial

FASTER

A man by the name of H. O. D. Segrave from England has come over to America with a peculiar kind of automobile and has made a mile in seventeen seconds, or over 293 miles an hour.

This is the fastest that any automobile has ever gone. It marks another record in the history of automobiling.

Just what its effect will be upon the automobile industry it is hard to say. But the incident is indicative of the times.

Whether we are getting better or not and whether we are progressing or not we are all certainly going faster.

Ships cross the ocean in six days and a hundred years ago it took them weeks.

We travel in express trains across the continent in five days, when it used to take months. The plodding ox has given way to the 7-league boots of steam.

It is a common thing for airplanes to fly through the air at the rate of 100 miles an hour. We dart up to the top of a 20-story building in elevators and dash under the street level from the suburbs into town via the subway.

Typists get off 50 letters nowadays in the time it used to take a person to write one by hand. The sewing machine speeded up the business of making clothes tremendously. They are now made by machinery and by wholesale, where they formerly were laboriously put together by hand.

And what shall we say of the sewing machine, the fountain pen and other devices?

The effect of this has not only been a great increase in production, but it has been to release a great deal of human effort for other things. We work faster and get more done in an hour than we used to do in six hours, consequently we have more leisure.

And art and culture are the products of leisure.

The by-product of this great industrialism therefore is a people with more time for better things, and while there is much talk of crime and viciousness as a product of our modern age, I personally think that the result has been that the world is growing better.

With the electric cooker, the vacuum and such things a woman can get her housework done now in a fraction of the time it used to take her. She need not be continually employed in household drudgery.

So far from the machine enslaving man, therefore, it seems to me that the improvement of machinery has liberated mankind.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

REMEMBER ALSO MAHONEY.

Benjamin Franklin once flew a Kite, by which he drew lightning from the skies, and thereby added to man's knowledge. A namesake of his, Benjamin Franklin Mahoney, a young man of the present day and generation, of about the same age as Captain Lindbergh, built a Kite, if you will,—the "Kite" happening to be the Ship of the Air which carried the young aviator safely from Roosevelt Field, Long Island, to Le Bourget, France. While the newspapers of the world, of May 21st and succeeding days, told the story of the great Trans-Atlantic Flight very little was said concerning the builders of the airship. The Great and Small of the earth paid great homeage to the Flyer, but seemed to almost forget the Ship and its Builder.

The last person at the Roosevelt Field to hold the hand of the great flyer, and wish him good luck and God speed, the person who helped Captain Lindbergh into his flying jacket, was that same Benjamin Franklin Mahoney, who built the "Spirit of St. Louis." Some may belittle Mahoney's work by saying that he was only the proprietor of the Ryan Aircraft Company, that it was workmen who designed and built ship. It was Mahoney, however who answered Lindbergh's call for help. When Lindbergh found that he could not obtain a Bellanca Monoplane, the airship which he most desired to have, in which to make his trip, he wired on March 28th to Mahoney, at San Diego, California, asking if he could build a monoplane, equal to the great undertaking. Mahoney without hesitation, speaking with the arrogance of Youth, wired back "Yes", and in less than sixty days thereafter, by reason of working the men in his San Diego factory night and day, he turned out the plane now known as the "Spirit of St. Louis." It was better the "Spirit of Mahoney."—a Spirit likened to the Spirit of the Great Aviator.

Mahoney is the same sort of smiling youth as Lindbergh. He possesses the same indifference to danger, the same will to do, and to dare. After the plane was finished, and Lindbergh had started from San Diego on his three jump flight to Paris, Mahoney immediately followed, that he might be present at Long Island Field, when Lindbergh departed on his last lap for Paris.

Next to the marvelous endurance of the lone aviator, who accomplished the grueling feat of thirty three and half sleeplpess hours in cockpit of the "Spirit of St. Louis," and navigated the 3600 miles of air more by his own inspired second sight than by reliance on the usual scientific instruments, the interest and commendation of the crowd should certainly turn to the silver-winged monoplane that stood the strain and stress with no less sturdy fortitude than the brave master himself. The success or failure of the mighty feat rested almost as completely on the perfect acting of the mechanical steed as on the nerves and heart of the rider. If we thank the Creator that he gave the world so splendid an example of his handiwork in the figure of the pilot, we must also acknowledge the skill and conscientiousness of the human builder who supplied that pilot with so admirable and reliable an instrument.

Remember also Mahoney.

In Day's News

Some little sidelights on the character of King George V., to whom the people of the British Empire "wish many happy returns" today on his Majesty's sixty-second birthday anniversary: The King's favorite hobby is stamp-collecting His favorite outdoor sport is shooting, and his favorite outdoor recreation tennis. He loves children, and a secondary hobby is a collection of children's photographs. His favorite "smoke" is a good mild cigar, and his favorite beverage a light wine. His favorite indoor game is billiards, and his favorite reading consists of books of travel and exploration. His taste in foods is extremely simple, and if he could do exactly as he liked he undoubtedly would prefer the role of a country gentleman, farming his own estate. Of all the varied public functions and ceremonies the King has to attend, it is stated that a naval review gives him the greatest personal pleasure.

COMPARATIVE HARD LUCK

A famous surgeon committed suicide by jumping from a Long Island Sound passenger steamer not long ago. He was a man in middle life, and had a reputation in several states as one of the most successful surgeons in certain classes of cases. He was comfortably well off.

The reason given for the act of self-destruction was that the doctor had accidentally cut one of his fingers while fussing with an electric fan. A blade of the fan slashed his finger. When the wound healed the doctor found that a nerve had been severed and the finger had become useless. The efficiency of the surgeon was greatly diminished and he became discouraged. So he killed himself.

I knew very slightly an important figure in the steel industry. He had come up from the ranks of the workers and was said to be worth approximately fifty million dollars. He suffered certain business reverses, lost control of an important factory and was hurt in his pride.

Surveying his possessions after the storm, this captain of industry found that he had suffered a net loss of nearly ten million dollars. He had only about forty million dollars left.

He blew his brains out with a shotgun.

But I know a writer who has lost his sight altogether and continues to write. It has never occurred to him to ask for quarter or to seek special privileges because of his handicap. He realizes that he must put forth special effort, so that he may do his work better than seeing writers, and thus make his position secure.

Lawrence Stallings, who has become one of the leading movie dramatists of the world, lost a leg in the war, and from the hospital went straight on and up in his profession.

Hard luck is a relative matter. What drives one to suicide drives another onward to greater achievement.

Thousands Of Blooms Promised By Good Down At Glad Haven

In about six weeks Glad Haven, the Enon Valley home of H. M. Good, former postmaster of this city, and one of the more important gladioli growing and producing centers in this section of the United States, will be the center of attraction in this district.

At that time, weather and other conditions proving satisfactory, there will be many thousands of gladioli, as well as other beautiful flowers, in bloom at that place and it will be a sight well worth going to see. And the public will be welcome, especially those from his old home town of New Castle.

Mr. Good has 60,000 blooming stock gladioli bulbs already planted, and in many instances up a considerable height already, while he expects to plant approximately 20,000 more such bulbs in the next few days. As a result of the manner in which he made the plantings of the bulbs, there will be thousands of these beautiful flowers in bloom at a time and for a period of several weeks.

In addition to his first love in plant life, Mr. Good is fast becoming one of the leading growers of delphiniums, the creation of the plant wizard, Burbank. He is raising delphiniums of the original Burbank strain and in spite of the fact that these plants are difficult to start, now has some 3,000 of them under various stages of cultivation.

He also has a patch of 1,000 snapdragon plants which will soon be bursting forth in bloom, as well as thousands of other kinds of flowering plants.

He has also apparently won the tomato producing championship of this county this season, for he now has a plant at his place on which there are a number of tomatoes as large as hen eggs and in the course of a comparatively short time he should have ripened tomatoes.

Dry Zone Plan To Be Changed

Treasury Department Announces Some Changes To Be Made

International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, June 3.—Important changes in the government's prohibition zone plan, involving the division of the country into three instead of five sections, were under consideration today by the treasury department.

Under the plans west, central and southern and eastern districts will be established and placed under supervision of zone chiefs, charged with co-ordination of all treasury enforcement agencies within their territories.

The tentative setup places in one zone the section west of Texas, Kansas, Missouri and central Wisconsin; most of the central states and the entire south are in another area while the territory east of Indiana and north of Mason and Dixon line is in the eastern district.

O. D. Jackson, administrator at New Orleans, and co-ordinator for the Mississippi valley probably will be named chief for the central area. Appointment of other zone supervisors is held up pending action of the plan.

Each zone will comprise from seven to eight prohibition enforcement districts. It was understood that the new prohibition regime under commissioner James M. Doran does not contemplate changes in the enforcement districts at this time.

—and Here's Why:

We take the same precautions to make our $35 suits right that we do with our most expensive suits. Materials must measure up to a certain standard, must be all-wool and capable of giving satisfactory service; tailoring and style must be good—before the C. & B. label can be put into the suit.

That's why it pays men who buy moderately priced clothing to come here.

American Automobile Association Paying Tribute To Jameson

Following March Meeting The A. A. A. Officers Send Resolution Of Condolence

B. N. Hanlon, secretary of the New Castle Motor Club received a resolution of condolence from the main headquarters of the American Automobile Association, Thursday, June 2. The same was sent to the family of David Jameson, in recognition of his worth to the association, following the meeting of the officers and executive committee at Washington, D. C., March 22.

Whereas the officers and executive committee of the American Automobile Association meeting in Washington, D. C., on March 22, 1927, learned with deep regret of the death of the former associate David Jameson of New Castle, Pa., on March 20, 1927, and whereas David Jameson for years served this organization unselfishly, and during 1918, 1919 and 1920 served as its highest ranking officers and devoted his energy and intelligence to the establishment of its repuation and the furtherance of its aims, and whereas, David Jameson lived a life of service and devotion to the highest ideals of citizenship and public welfare, and contributed to an unusual degree his thoughts, his activities and his fortune to the service of his fellow-man.

Now therefore be it resolved: That the officers and executive committee, in behalf of the eight hundred and seventy affiliated clubs of this association and all its members, express to David Jameson's family their heartfelt sympathy and further say that they recognize the loss to the world of a distinguished citizen, a wise counsellor, and a true friend; and

Be it further resolved: that copies of this resolution be sent to David Jameson's family and that it be spread upon the official records, and published in the official magazine of the association.

Pinchot Claims Army Engineers Responsible For Flood Conditions

Former Pennsylvania Governor Assails Engineer Corps For Negligence

15,000 Delegates From All Parts Of Country Attend Flood Conference

By FRED J. WALKER.
International News Service Staff Correspondent

CHICAGO, June 3.—Responsibility for the tremendous loss of life and property in Mississippi floods since the seventies, was placed directly upon army engineers today by Gifford Pinchot, noted conservationist and former governor of Pennsylvania.

"The present calamity might never have happened," Pinchot told delegates to the flood control conference, "But for the insistence of army engineers, who have full control of the river, that no measure of flood protection was equal to levees."

"For two generations the regulation of the Mississippi has been left to official routine the present flood is proof that official routine has failed."

Pinchot's speech, delivered shortly after Secretary of War Davis paid a tribute to the work of army engineers, created something akin to a sensation among the more than 15,000 delegates representing 27 states who are seeking to work out a permanent flood control plan.

DETROIT, June 3. — Having hitch-hiked 400 miles in four days, Carrie and Myrtle Holder, twelve and twenty years old, respectively, are at the Y. W. C. A. under direction of United States Immigration authorities. They will be allowed to go to their home in Kitchener, Ont., as soon as authorities hear from their parents.

Dressed in knickers and caps and carrying knapsacks, the girls arrived in Detroit from Sterling, Ill., where they had been living with their brother since January. They boarded a Windsor ferryboat, but were denied entrance to Canada by Canada Customs officials.

Carrie and Myrtle said their parents had sent them money for their trip home, but they had spent it for amusement. Lacking railroad fare, they said, they decided to hike.

State Police Send Warnings Here On Salesmen Wanted

The New Castle police authorities have been warned by the state police authorities at the Butler barracks to be on the lookout for and issue warnings concernig two men giving the names of J. J. McDonald, alias James J. McDonald, alias Jack McDonald and Richard Kear, who are wanted in Spring Mills, Pa., for obtaining money under false pretense.

At this place these men representing themselves to be the agents of the Clearfield Printing and Binding company went to a bank and stated that they planned to get out a paper wallet with advertising on it which they desired to have the bank distribute. They asked for and obtained a letter of introduction and obtained considerable money for advertising which was to appear on the wallet. The wallet was never printed.

The state police also advised the city police today that they have warrants for two men named "McDevellin" and "D. L. Wagner" who are traveling in a Hudson coach bearing a Washington D. Trinity Church To Observe Whitsunday

Communion Will Be Served On Sunday At 7:30, 9:30 And 11 A. M.; Sermon By Rev. Pearson

Next Sunday in Trinity church, one of the three greatest days in the Christian year will be commemorated and one of the greatest events in the history of the world, the coming of the Holy Spirit on the first day of Pentecost, a record of which will be found in the second chapter of the Book of the Acts of the Apostle. A group of 12 peasants were given Divine power and in the strength of it turned everything about in a new and better direction. Whitsunday is therefore the birthday of the church. Thus it comes that for centuries special services have been held each year in observance of so great an event. People have naturally turned to the Lord's own way, and the Lord's Supper is the great service of the day. To make it possible for all to partake, especially in homes where there are little children, there will be three opportunities:—7:30 a. m., 9:30 a. m. for the young people, the 5th and higher grades of the church school attending, music by the Junior Girls choir, and an address by the rector, providing a second opportunity for grown ups, and 11:00 a. m., with hymns, anthems and other music suitable for the observance of so notable an event, and a sermon by The Rev. Philip C. Pearson. Likewise the evening service at 8 o'clock is arranged in harmony with the message of the day.

ed by the leaders of this conference."

Study Problem.

With the task of perfecting an organization completed, committees were studying the problem today with a view to submitting several proposals to the delegates for final action.

"We hope to work out a practicable proposal behind which all of us can unite at the next session of congress," Senator Watson (R) Ind., chairman of the resolution committee, declared today.

"Several plans are under discussion but we hope to agree upon one."

The 27 states represented at the conference were virtually unanimous in agreeing the problem must be handled by the federal government.

"Louisiana cannot fail to pay for a new levee system" said Gov. John E. Martineau. "The problem affects the entire country directly or indirectly and should be solved by the government."

One proposal, calling upon the President to appoint a committee of engineers, business men, economists and agricultural experts to confer with army engineers, now in charge of flood control and report their findings to the President and to congress, was being widely supported.

It was introduced by Representative Porter, (R) Pennsylvania, one of the administration leaders in the house and was regarded as representing the President's attitude.

Stone Mountain Memorial Will Be War Tribute

Idea Broadened So That It Includes Avenue Of Trees For Heroes

First Part Of Monument Expected To Be Ready By September 1

(International News Service)

ATLANTA, June 3—The Stone Mountain Memorial, originally designed as a gigantic monument to heroes of the Confederacy, has been broadened to include a fitting tribute to victims of the world war.

This tribute will take the form of an avenue of trees which will lead up to the face of the mountain, on which are depicted an equestrian group of Confederate Generals, including Generals Robert E. Lee, Stonewall Jackson and Jefferson Davis.

Natural Beauty

The suggestion to bring the World War into the memorial was made by Augustus E. Lukeman of New York, the sculptor who succeeded Gutzon Borglum in the task which may not be finished for another five years. His suggestion is well taken because the road leading to the mountain is drab and barren and trees and foliage would be an appropriate approach as well as add a touch of natural beauty.

Each three, according to Lukeman's idea, would be planted in memory of the deeds of some world war soldier and where ever necessary markers will be placed at the foot of the trees, describing the deeds. The main idea, however, is to increase the interest in the Stone Mountain monument among organizations such as the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Boy Scouts and others.

To Dedicate Trees.

Any of these organizations desiring to purchase a tree could dedicate it to some particular soldier they are interested in, and in this way the Avenue of Trees, as a memorial to heroes of the world war would become a public undertaking without any additional expense to the management of the Memorial.

By the first of September, Lukeman predicts that the first horse and rider will be finished sufficiently to distinguish it. It will be complete except for the finishing touches.

Engineers Will Have Meeting In Cleveland, Ohio

(International News Service)

CLEVELAND, O., June 3.—The Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers convention, which meets here June 6 for one month's session, will be one of the most important in the history of the organization, according to the reports from the Standing committee. The convention is held once every three years, and in addition to more than 400 delegates, around 2,000 visitors are expected to attend. The Standing Committee, which is now in session, is considering proposed changes and amendments in the laws of the organization, many of which will be introduced at the convention.

The committee consists of H. A. Madden, chairman, of San Francisco; B. R. Wilson, Cleveland, of the Pennsylvania Lines; H. G. Guernsey, Charleston, S. C., of the Southern Railway; H. A. Topham, Toronto, Ont., of the Canadian Pacific; and J. A. Sederholm, Jamestown, N. D., of the Northern Pacific.

RUM FLOWED FREELY AT SCHOOL PICNIC, SO FIVE ARE EXPELLED

OMAHA, Neb., June 3.—Five boys have been expelled from South high school of Omaha because they became intoxicated at the annual school picnic recently.

Three others, girls in the senior class, were allowed to return to classes today because, in the opinion of the school authorities, they didn't know what they were drinking. The boys were held responsible for the spree.

Alien Property Owners Getting Big Payments

Official Figures Show A Return Of $342,025,296 In Four Months

30,000 Claimants Whose Property Was Seized In War, Get A Share

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, June 3.—Alien property owners up to April 30 had received a total of cash and property from the Alien Property Custodian of $342,025,296.92, according to official figures made available here.

The distribution for the first four months of 1927 amounted to $7,229,681.16. The total at the close of 1926 was $334,795,615.76.

These figures include the valuations put on physical properties cash principle, and earned income and interest.

More than 30,000 claimants whose property was seized during the World War under the trading with the enemy act, have shared in this distribution. On December 31 the number was 29,029. In the first four months of this year an additional 1,056 claims had been released and paid.

Actual Distribution

The distribution for these four months represented property $2,793,508.98; cash principal, $1,831,824.35, and income and interest, $2,604,347.83. The last item is significant. It shows that German and other alien owners are receiving more than $650,000 a month in earnings on the properties still in the custodian's possession. This figures approximately 3 per cent per annum on the total valuation of the approximately $250,000,000 of property and cash still held by the custodian. It is equivalent to the standard interest rate paid by American banks on saving accounts and time deposits.

Average Earnings

Some of the properties held by the custodian are non-revenue producing. Others are earning less than 3 per cent while others are returning large percentages in rentals, dividends, interest, etc. But where properties of such widely varied nature as is represented in these holdings scattered in every line of business and industry over the 48 states and insular possessions are showing a 3 per cent return on the gross capital represented, after taxes, upkeep and administrative charge have been taken care of, it is evident that the properties are being administered on a sound business basis.

Rural Mail Boxes Being Painted In Lawrence County

Many of the patrons of the rural mail routes are taking the suggestion of the United States Post Office Department in having their mail boxes painted and lettered in a fitting manner.

A certain painter has taken advantage of the need and is contracting for the painting and lettering of the boxes. For a small sum that most patrons are glad to pay he paints and letters the box, and although it costs each owner very little, the total number of boxes that he is able to finish in a day nets him a fair income.

Boxes painted as long as fifteen years ago by the father of the present man are still in good condition. A letter of recommendation from E. W. Crawford, acting postmaster is used as an introduction to the patrons of the different routes.

Mr. Crawford wishes to call attention to the patrons of the routes that if their mail box has become rusty, the Post Office Department requires them to be replaced by proper boxes. A worn or rusty box is a menace to the carriers.

Mary Baker Eddy Homestead Is Gift To Mother Church

BOSTON, June 3.—The homestead in Bow, N. H., near Concord, where Mary Baker Eddy, founder of Christian Science, was born in 1821, has been given to the mother church, First Church of Christ, Scientist, Boston, by James F. Lord of Brookline, it was announced today. Since acquiring the farm in 1917, Lord has improved the property and erected a granite memorial on the site of the house where Mrs. Eddy was born and where she passed her early girlhood.

Ballyhooing the Greatest Value Show on Earth

Victor Hugo's Deformed Clowns Of Medieval Montebanks

The outdoor amusement world, which comes to flower at this time every year, along with tulips and peach trees, gives this sale it's name. The Leather Lunged gentleman who stands before the side show and bawls exhortations are certainly ballyhooing. But so is the President when he broadcasts his annual message full of references to party aims and accomplishments. But the showman seems to have been the inventor of ballyhoo methods. The Roman mimics and mummers understood the trick, and their manoeuvres, poses, hesitations and pretended difficulties will be found surviving in the technique of every juggler, aerialist and every parlor magician. The grinning boys and deformed clowns of medieval Mountebank performance, beloved of Hugo and his school, were the ballyhoo of that time. In the 80's and 90's crowds came from distances to see the big bag filled; to shout as the "Marvelous Melville" came out in tights and took his place on the dangling bag; to catch and hold their breaths as the balloon shot up, sailed off into space and came back to earth again. Such exhibitions were worth anybody's dime when the last century was still in its prime. In another attraction, popular among the male population of that period, a number of girls in costumes vaguely suggesting the orient (perhaps half as scant as in present day street wear for modish women) appeared on a platform in front of a hall or tent housing the attraction. The houris did a few steps to the blare of the horn, the rattle of the drum, and the shrilling of the Chinese flute. As a rule the police got their bit while moral snoopers who came spying saw nothing unchaste. A good deal of standardized ballyhooing is carried on under our noses every day in cities, where we pay little attention to it and seldom think of it as what it is. Drums and trumpets of the Salvation Army, the political brass band and the sky writer are examples. The last is a development of the modern ballyhooist, the stunt flyer. Webster defines ballyhoo thusly—whatever attracts attention or patronage, advertising, publicity, noise, illuminations, provocative display of any sort. Possibly of gypsy origin or influence. Being good shopkeepers we too understand this and advertise bargains to attract patronage. Fisher Brothers Merchandise Carnival is a sale of far flung fame, originated to attract attention to Our Store. Tomorrow you will find our stores bedecked in carnival array, stocked with over a million dollars worth of fresh new merchandise that will not only fill the wants of particular people but will create demand and desire by its beauty, style, newness, and lowness of price. To the right you will find many bargains, new, seasonable merchandise priced at a great deal less than the same can be purchased elsewhere.

"Marvelous Melville" Balloon Ascentions of the 80's

The Leather Lunged Gentlemen and the Cario Dancers

DIRECTORS TO BE ELECTED

Chamber Of Commerce To Take Larger Quarters In Greer Building

CIVIC PROJECTS BEFORE MEETING

Chamber of Commerce of New Castle arranged for election of directors and the moving into new quarters in the rear of the Greer building at their meeting held Thursday noon, June 2.

Annual election of directors of the board was thoroughly discussed and the president names as the election committee, John A. Butler, chairman, John M. Bevan, A. C. McCoy, Delace Cole and E. W. Crawford.

The election will be held in the very near future at which 12 directors are to be elected, eight of which will succeed the retiring directors and four of which will represent a newly made addition to the directorate. It was urged that every member of the chamber exercise his right to vote, which they will be given an opportunity to do. Ballots will be sent to each and every member in the near future.

Report of the Quarters committee was submitted to the board by David S. Pyle, chairman, and it was decided that the chamber move into the rear of the Greer building where additional space can be secured. The space in the present quarters has been found insufficient to take care of the work and for the holding of conferences and committee meetings.

Secretary A. W. Chilton reported at the meeting that the Insurance Federation of Pennsylvania had accepted the invitation of the Chamber of Commerce to hold their 1928 convention in New Castle. The convention will be held sometime in May, 1928.

Captain W. R. Walter of Company B, 125th Engineers, met with the board and explained to them some of the needs of the newly organized company. The board promised their cooperation and support in every way possible and after some discussion it was decided to sponsor a Military ball in honor of our Engineer company. This ball will be held in New Castle at some future date which has not yet been decided upon. O. P. Brown was named chairman of this committee.

J. A. Appleton, superintendent of the E. & A. division of the Pennsylvania railroad reported that the annual picnic of his division of Pennsylvania railroad would be held in New Castle sometime during the month of June.

At the meeting, the final report of the General Organizations committee on the New Castle expansion movement was submitted to the board.

T. W. Dickey, chairman of the By-law committee reported progress being made in a revision of the by-laws of the chamber. The by-laws are being brought up-to-date and when revised they will be comparable with the by-laws of Chambers of Commerce throughout the United States.

U. S. Manufacturers Are Gaining Steadily In South America

American manufacturers are gaining ground in South America, particularly in the Argentine, according to Edward Beadel, who has just returned from Buenos Aires after 2½ years service as a vice-president in charge of construction work for the Bethlehem Steel Company.

Mr. Beadel was formerly president of the Pennsylvania Engineering Works here, but left about 2½ years ago for his South American service. The Bethlehem Steel Company had taken over a large contract with the Argentinian government for the erection of oil refineries and because of his wide experience in the steel business Mr. Beadel was asked to act as their agent.

Refineries At La Plata.

While the oil wells from which the oil was pumped are on the seacoast some 800 miles from Buenos Aires, the refineries are located at La Plata, about 30 miles from Buenos Aires. Some idea of their size can be appreciated when it is known that they are refining 14,000 barrels of oil a day.

Each year sees an increase in the exports from the United States to the Argentine, according to Mr. Beadel. Ninety five per cent of all the automobiles there are of American make, most of the farm machinery is of American make, and practically all motion pictures are of American manufacture.

Argentine is essentially an agricultural country and on the broad expanses of the country are raised thousands of prime beeves, the majority of which goes to England and the continent. Their grain production is also large, there being few industries.

Mr. Beadel's plans for the immediate future are rather indefinite. For several days he will be in New Castle and will probably go to Bethlehem at the end of his stay here.

So many of us make the mistake of waiting until after we have failed before we become philosophers. —The Toledo Blade.

Senior High School News

FINAL EXAMINATIONS OVER

Joy has replaced fear in the halls of the Senior High school. The second semester final examinations are over.

The exams were ushered in Tuesday afternoon with the French tests. From then on the students were busy studying for these quizzes, which will probably determine the fate for some. The last test was taken this afternoon at 1:30 o'clock. The teachers are now busy correcting the papers probably.

The rules for this semester's exams were the same used in preceding tests. Three tests were given each day. The first beginning at 8:30 a. m. and continuing until 10:20 a. m. The second starting at 10:30 and running until 12:30 p. m. The afternoon quiz started at 1:30 and continued until 3:30 p. m. Each student was required to remain in the exam room at least one hour and one-half, although the student could remain until the allotted time was up. All students who did not have tests on certain days were not required to report to the school on those days.

School will resume on Monday morning, June 6, as usual. Examination papers will probably be discussed in the classes this day.

SENIORS HAVE MEETING

The class of 1927 at the Senior High school met this morning in the auditorium of the school for the purpose of receiving their caps and gowns, which will be worn publicly for the first time on next Sunday evening, June 5, when the baccalaureate services will be held in the auditorium of the Scottish Rite Cathedral.

This will probably be the last meeting of this year's Senior class to be held in the auditorium of their alma mater.

After this meeting the Seniors went over to the Cathedral and rehearsed for the baccalaureate service.

NEW RULES CAUSE MORE ARRESTS OF PARKING VIOLATERS

Parking violators are increasing in numbers in the past few days as a result of the enforcement of the new half hour parking regulation on the public square and on North street, where previously it was possible to park for some length of time.

It is becoming increasingly difficult to find a parking space in the downtown district, where it is possible to remain for any length of time and the result is that numbers of motorists are now paying the city a dollar for the privilege of using their parking space longer than permitted.

Indications are that a record number of persons will be recorded at the police station this month for parking.

"Home goes up in spoke," says the Baltimore Sun. It's rotten grammar. The word should be "speech."

Pageant Monday At Slippery Rock

Elaborate Costume Pageant To Be Staged On Monday Afternoon

SLIPPERY ROCK, Pa., June 3.—Members of the Senior class of 1927 of Slippery Rock State Teachers' College will stage an elaborate costumed pageant entitled "History of Education", on the school campus Monday afternoon, June 6, at two o'clock eastern standard time.

The pageant is a part of the program arranged by the Seniors of the school in their class day activities. The pageant will be depicted in ten episodes, portraying the educational value from beginning of time dating back as far as the Grecians and Romans.

A chronological history of schools past and future will also be a part of the pageant. The affair promises to be one of the most spectacular of the year at the State Teachers' School. There will be plenty of comedy in the pageant, said a member of the committee.

The pageant masters are Miss Margaret Cowmeadow of New Castle and Miss Ethel Kerrick of Pittsburgh.

Arrests Fisherman Without License

Local Fish Warden Causes Arrest On Wolf Creek

Followers of Izaak Walton, in other words the fishermen of this district, are destined to have plenty of their type of sport during the fishing seasons this year, according to O. E. Koonse, state fish warden, who has just returned from Mercer county and other points in pursuance of his duties.

While at Montgomery Dam on Wolf Creek, Memorial day, Mr. Koonse came upon Eber J. Phipps of Venango county, who was enjoying some excellent fishing but without the necessary fisherman's license.

The young man was taken before Justice of the Peace O. E. Irwin of Grove City where a charge of violating the state law requiring that a license be secured in order to indulge in the sport, was made against him by Mr. Koonse. He was given a hearing before Squire Irwin on Tuesday and assessed a fine and costs amounting to $28.75.

When the bass season comes in, according to Mr. Koonse, the fishermen will find that there are quite a number of good sized fish of this kind in the Neshannock creek. There are also considerable numbers of native and brown trout in a number of the other streams of the county and surrounding districts which are over six inches in length the legal size.

Bass are especially plentiful in the streams of Forest and Adams counties he reports. The season for spawning of fish has been especially good this year and there is every reason to believe that there will be greater numbers of fish than ever in the coming seasons.

Pact Reviving Old War Spirit Among Balkans

Italy-Albania Alliance Causes Irritation That May Bring Trouble

Munition Factories Said To Be Turning Out Big Supply Of Weapons

By CONSTANTINE STEPHANOVE
International News Service Staff Correspondent

SOFIA, June 3. — The old war spirit is once again reasserting itself in the Balkans as a result of the jealousies aroused by the recent secret Pact of friendship between Italy and Albania.

Munition factories are reported to be turning out weapons of war with the same feverish haste as they did in 1914, and competent observers believe that a repetition of the events of 1914-18 is quite possible as a result.

Jugo-Slavia Irritatel

Jugoslavia's irritation at Italy and Albania over the Pact has not subsided one bit, whatever may be the protestations of the politicians to the contrary. This is apparent to all students of politics in the Balkans.

She has taken precautions to meet all emergencies, and is militarizing herself in such a manner as to make the adjacent States believe that war is the only alternative left for her if she is to preserve her present privileged position in the Balkans.

Now that Premier Mussolini has refused to revise or modify the Pact, Jugoslavians make it plain that the only way in which the supremacy of the Adriatic can be decided is by the only way known to Balkan countries—the sabre. Throughout Jugoslavia the anti-Italian hatred is acute, reminding the visitor of the anti-Austrian hatred prior to the world war.

Mobilizing On Border

It is known that Jugoslavia is secretly mobilizing her army, and that along the Albanian frontier she has finished preliminary work for an eventual clash. Her Third Army has been fully equipped, as also her Fifth Army. Her ammunition factories are also known to be doubling their output.

Throughout the Balkans it is felt that we are on the eve of another war, or wars, as any Italian-Jugoslavia conflict will entail complications the possibilities of which none can guage.

Never doubt a girl's veracity when she says she can't sing. It's a thousand to one she can't.

King Boris Urges Care For Babies

By CONSTANTINE STEPHANOVE,
International News Service Staff Correspondent

SOFIA, June 3.—It will not be the fault of certain Bulgarian newspapers if King Boris of Bulgaria remains unwed to the end of his reign.

Their latest little effort in encouraging him to take himself a wife is the talk of the foreign colony here. Boris took occasion of a nation-wide "Children's Day" to address the following homily to his people: "The care of the Bulgarian child is the sure guarantee for a healthy and prosperous Bulgaria."

His words were published in every Bulgarian newspaper next morning, but one Sofia newspaper thought it a good occasion to add a few words of its own. Thus:

"It is all very well, Your Royal Majesty, but we want deeds, not words. Must we once more remind you that your palace is both motherless and childless, and therefore, that there is no taking care of the babe in the first home of the land. Please do not postpone much longer our pleasure of actually seeing you taking care of your own babies."

Law School At Yale To Cost Three Millions

Whole City Block To Be Taken Up By Building To Start Soon

$1,000,000 Fund Set Aside For Maintenance Out Of Sterling Estate

By R. T. BULKELEY
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW HAVEN, Conn., June 3—An entire city block will be required for the new law school plant of Yale University, construction of which will be started in the present year, according to Robert M. Hutchins, now acting dean of the school. The sum of $3,500,000 is in hand to build the school, and an additional $1,000,000 has been placed in reserve as a maintenance fund. The money comes from the estate of John W. Sterling, of New York, Yale 1864.

The law school has been assigned a location in the block bounded by York, Grove, High and Wall streets. Its York street frontage will continue a solid line of buildings extending north from Chapel street. They will include the art school, York library dormitory, Harkness Memorial, Sterling Library, and Sterling Law School.

English Gothic Style

James Gamble Rogers, of New York, has designed the law school. He originated the plans for the Harkness Memorial and the Sterling library. The entire group is of English Gothic style.

Law school plans call for a dormitory for 238 men along York and Wall streets, offices, seminar rooms and a library capable of holding 250,000 volumes on High street; common room, dining room and kitchen with dormitory rooms, on Grove street; and, in the center a small building to provide temporary quarters for distinguished visitors.

Three large open courts will occupy the rest of the center of the block. An auditorium to seat 600 persons will form the High-Grove corner, while a building for dean and registrar goes on the High-Wall corner.

A Small School

"The magnificent gift makes it possible for Yale to introduce the Law School something of the spirit and atmosphere of the English Inns of Court," says Dean Hutchins, of the new plant. "Yale is the first privately endowed University in America to take this step.

"The buildings are planned for a small school, for the faculty is not disposed to have more than 400 students in the institution. Although we are more than a month from the closing date for applications, we have already had so many we can safely say that we shall reject more applicants than we admit. We shall have, next year, a very highly selected group of students."

With money for maintenance certain the Law School will use all funds it may secure in the future to adding to the faculty, enriching the library, promoting research and publication, supporting the loan and fellowship funds, and improving the quality of the education.

Phone Operator Becomes Wealthy In Real Estate

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, June 3. — From "hello girl" to millionaire real estate woman.

That's the transition that took place in a short time in the life of Mrs. Edith Mae Cummings, blonde ex-telephone operator, who made $1,000,000 in Detroit real estate, and who was a recent visitor in this city.

She related while here that when she was working as a telephone girl she felt her personality was submerged. One day she saw an ad, reading: "Wanted—An intelligent woman of the right type. Must be a real person". She answered it, saying she didn't know what was meant by the "right" type, but that she could prove she was a "real" woman. That got her the job.

What was wanted was a woman assistant in a real estate office who could meet the clients and talk to them intelligently until the boss had a chance to see them.

"I stayed with the company 18 months, interviewed prospects and salespeople, wrote advertising and took charge of affairs generally", she said. "In short, I began to realize that I was a natural-born boss".

The company, meanwhile, grew from a force of 15 to 300. They tried to put a man in her place to give the job "prestige". She didn't like that, so she decided that inasmuch as she was by that time a good real estate salesman, or rather saleswoman, to go into business for herself, which she did with the result that it was not long before she made the first million.

She confided while here that she might be prevailed upon to go into politics and "might" run for mayor at a time when she had a chance to win. Right now, however, Captain Charles A. Lindbergh's uncle is acting mayor and the time's not propituous for he's very popular.

Spectroscope To Potograph Eclipse Of Sun

Greenwich Observatory To Take Pictures In Total Darkness On June 29

World's Most Scientific Instruments Gathered To Get New Data

(International News Service)

LONDON, June 3.—Preparations at the famous Greenwich Observatory for photographing and officially observing the total eclipse of the sun over northern England during the morning of June 29 are almost complete. Some of the most up-to-date scientific instruments in the world have been gathered together at the Observatory, including a specially built giant spectroscope.

The majority of the apparatus will be taken at the beginning of June to Giggleswick, in the county of Yorkshire, where the astronomers in charge will concentrate on the photographing of the sun in the various stages of its eclipse.

At Low Altitude

At the time of the eclipse the sun will be at the low altitude of twelve degrees, which means that, for scientific reasons, the majority of the work will have to be done only in the red portion of the spectroscope.

One of the most important observations will be to compare, by means of photographs, certain lines in the ultra-violet element with others in the infra-red. The infra-red is beyond the reach of the ordinary photographic plate. Specially prepared plates will therefore be used. The sun itself will not be photographed, but a reflection of it, in a delicate arrangement of mirrors.

The image of the sun is reflected in a mirror mounted on a delicate clockwork pivot, which is adjusted to rotate the mirror at exactly half the rate of the earth's movement.

Reflecting The Picture

The image is thus kept stationary upon a second mirror which reflects it into the spectroscope. Here, after passing through another extremely delicate arrangement of prisms, it is ultimately projected on a photographic plate.

Two spectroscopes will be used, and in order to photograph only a portion of the arc and to make it easier for analysis, photographs will be taken through a slit. The whole apparatus will be enclosed in a light canvas hut. At a given sign this hut will be dragged back and observations will immediately begin.

Coal Fields 'Normal' In Spite Of Strike

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, June 3.—John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America, thinks the situation in the central competitive field, comprising Illinois, Indiana, Ohio and western Pennsylvania, is normal, "absolutely normal", despite the present strike.

On a recent visit to this city Lewis said that mines shut down now are the ones that would have closed this summer, anyhow, whether a strike was in existence or not.

The demand for coal just isn't, according to Lewis, and the nation is overstocked on soft coal, anyhow. It would not pay the operators to maintain a force of workers digging up coal for the next few weeks, the miners' leader thinks.

That's the reason, he says, paradoxical as it may seem, that the present situation and unemployment in the central competitive field is normal.

But in a few weeks, according to Lewis, there will be a change, especially when dealers begin to send in their orders for fall coal. That's when the break will come, Lewis thinks.

On Tuesday evening a cultural program will consist of current events by Mrs. P. Hartholtz. The main feature of the evening will be a paper on music by Mrs. Eli Caplan illustrated on the piano.

Has Bullet Pouch Relic Of Tecumseh

RENFROW, Okla., June 3.—A bullet pouch, powder horn and sash over 100 years old and formerly the property of Tecumseh, Shawnee Indian warrior, who joined the British and Torries in battle against settlers of the Northwest Territory during the years between 1800-1812, are in possession of Thomas Scrivner, a Grant County farmer living east of Renfrow.

Tecumseh held the rank of Brigadier-General with the British-Tory army and the sash was a part of the insignia worn by commanders of brigades in the British armies at that period. Abram Scrivner, great-grandfather of Thomas Scrivner, was a soldier with troops from Ohio.

Abram Scrivner and another soldier encountered Tecumseh, and an engagement ensued. Tecumseh fell mortally wounded. The relics have been handed down from generation to generation to the oldest son in the Scrivner family.

Upholds Landlord In Removing Aerial

CHICAGO, June 3.—A landlord has a right to refuse the installation of a radio aerial on the roof of his building, Municipal Court Judge Frank M. Padden ruled today.

The ruling was made in the case of Jacob Lowenberg, who was sued for $1,000 by a tenant, Norman T. Brenner. Lowenberg removed Brenner's areial last fall because it was interfering with the efficacy of another tenant's on the same roof.

By Rail Or Air To Any European City Soon Assured Fact

(International News Service)

PARIS, June 3.—Through "rail and air" tickets to and from any point in Europe will be available in the near future, if recommendations of a committee of the International Chamber of Commerce are adopted at the Stockholm Congress of the Chamber on June 26.

Such facilities are already available in Germany. Air passengers whose flights are interrupted by accident or weather conditions will be able to continue their journey on international expresses at the nearest station. Air and train schedules will be so arranged that passengers in a hurry will lose as little time as possible in changing from one form of transportation to the other.

Pageant Score Has Theme Around Rose

PORTLAND, Ore., June 3.—Three thousand singers, dancers and actors, drilled for months, will appear in the pageant "Rossario," Portland's civic spectacle, which will be presented this year for the second time. More than 100 musicians were engaged to interpret the musical score, which was written by Charles Wakefield Cadman.

Five performances of the show are billed for the new municipal stadium June 13 to 18.

Doris Smith of Portland, who has headed the department of pageanty and dramatic art at Washington, Nebraska and California State normal schools, is the author.

The pageant depicts the influences of the rose on civilization from the beginning of the Aryan race to the coronation of Portland's Rose Festival queen.

Steam screens, illuminated with colored lights, are employed with novel effect.

It pays to be upright. The crooked "S" means little but the addition of two upright lines thus "$" make it very eloquent.

The upper and the lower classes are the two that can eat in public without feeling self-conscious.

Baker-Donahey Scrap In Ohio For 1928 Favor

State Party Leaders Are Getting Ready To Back A "Favorite Son"

Cleveland Making Plans To Entertain Democratic National Convention

By C. D. HAWKINS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

CELEVELAND, June 3. — Will Newton D. Baker, secretary of war in President Woodrow Wilson's cabinet, or A. V. Donahey, governor of Ohio, be the Buckeye state choice for Democratic nominee in 1928?

With reports trickling in from the east that William G. McAdoo might withdraw from the race for the nomination, and pronounced opposition from national dry organizations to the candidacy of Governor Al Smith, of New York, the possibility of an Ohio "dark horse" is being seriously considered by state party leaders, who are therefore putting forth added efforts to bring next year's convention to Cleveland. Nothing is being left undone to welcome delegates if Cleveland is chosen. While this article is being written ground is being broken for a new wing to the public hall where the Republican convention was held in 1924.

Smith Well Liked

Waiving the chances of the former secretary of war and Ohio's chief executive, it is known that Cleveland is not unfavorable to New York and Tammany Democrats. Al Smith is well liked here, ranking second only to Ohio's own sons.

Dispatches from Washington have quoted Senator Pat Harrison of Mississippi, keynoter of the 1924 Democratic convention as being favorable to Cleveland.

National party leaders have already conceded both national meetings to the west, Detroit and Cleveland being most prominently mentioned for the Democratic powwow, with Republican possibilities running further west, even to the coast.

An important meeting of the Ohio Democratic committee appointed here some time ago, is scheduled for the near future, when pledges will be asked toward accomodation and entertainment of convention delegates in order to permit presentation of the Cleveland invitation to the national committee which will name the time and place for the big event.

Seek Convention

So far, four cities have been mentioned as possibilities. In addition to Detroit and Cleveland, already mentioned, Houston, Texas and Miami, Fla., are said to have offered $250,000 each for the convention.

With the south assuming a so-called "cool" attitude toward Governor Smith, however, it is the belief of Ohio Democrats that the eastern powers-that-be will swing their influence toward the north, which would dispose of Houston and Miami angles.

It is too early for any definite conclusion. Even Baker's candidacy is in doubt. Spokesmen for the former war secretary have repeatedly denied that he will enter the race. It is difficult to believe that he would refuse to answer if the opportunity called, however.

As for Governor Donahey—he has twice been elected Ohio's chief executive, while Republicans were running away with other state offices, therefore his chances are not to be tossed into the political waste-basket without sincere consideration.

ACID STOMACH IS DANGEROUS

Sufferers From Indigestion CUT THIS OUT

"Stomach trouble, dyspepsia, indigestion, sourness, gas, heartburn, food fermentation, etc., are caused nine times in ten by chronic acid stomach", says a well known authority.

Burning hydrochloric acid develops in the stomach at an alarming rate. The acid irritates and inflames the delicate stomach lining and often leads to gastritis or stomach ulcers. Don't dose an acid stomach with pepsin or artificial digestents that only give temporary relief from pain by driving the sour, fermenting food out of the stomach into the intestines.

Instead, neutralize or sweeten your acid stomach after meals with a little Bisurated Magnesia and not only will the pain vanish but your meals will digest naturally. There is nothing better than Bisurated Magnesia, to sweeten and settle an acid stomach. Your stomach acts and feels fine in just a few minutes. Bisurated Magnesia can be obtained from any reliable druggist in either powder or tablet form. It is safe, reliable, easy and pleasant to use, is not a laxative and is not at all expensive.

Girl, 18, Paralyzed As Car Overturns, Will Likely Die

WILMINGTON, Del., June 3.—Paralyzed from the waist down when her back was broken last night in an automobile accident, Emma Dawson, 18, this city, is in a critical condition at Union hospital, Elkton, Md. Her recovery is believed to be impossible.

Miss Dawson, in company with Martha Minner 19, Clifford Johnson 19, and Earl T. Paradee, 20 all of Wilmington, was injured when a car driven by Johnson overturned as he sought to regain the hard surface of the roadway after being blinded by the lights of another car.

Paradee suffered several broken ribs and is at Union hospital. Miss Minner suffered from shock but was unhurt. Johnson was found a mile from the accident an hour later and arrested. He appeared bewildered and refused to talk.

The accident occurred on the Lincoln highway on the Delaware side of the state line.

Horse Owners Seek Street Right Of Way

BUFFALO, N. Y., June 3.—A bill giving a horse the right of way over an automobile in traffic is being prepared by a group of local horse-owners and will be submitted soon to the city council with a demand that it be enacted into a city odinance. The bill proposed as a result of an accident at Main and Chippewa streets Monday in which a horse was killed by an automobile, will be copied after an ordinance now in effect in New York city. The New York ordinance provides a fine of $500 for a motorist found guilty of running down a horse.

The proposed bill is being sponsored by S. M. Gaylord, president of a baking company at No. 309 Rhode Island street with the cooperation of William A. Burns of the Erie County S. P. C. A.

Mr. Gaylord yesterday declared that within the last few months several of his horses were injured by automobiles and that he has received similar complaints from other owners.

There are few good auto drivers because few persons can do foot work and head work at the same time.

Hawaii Improves Scenic Spots To Add Interest For Tourists

By JOHN F. STONE
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HONOLULU, June 3. — Permanent improvement projects making the scenic points of Hawaii more readily accessible to the visitor form a large proportion of the loan fund items agreed upon by the territorial legislature today shortly before the close of its biennial session. This feature of the 1927 assembly is significant, in that it shows that Hawaii is at last waking up legislatively to its possibilities as a recreational and tourist mecca.

Governor W. R. Farrington, during his six years in office, has repeatedly called attention in his reports and messages to the need for Hawaii to awake to the fact that it must prepare, not to repel, but to receive a friendly invasion of literally thousands of visitors annually; people seeking the beauty spots, the sunshine, the fruits and flowers which Nature has so bountiful given these islands.

Warnings Are Needed

These warnings have been heeded to some degree, and during the last decade noteworthy work has been done on highways, especially the belt road around the island of Oahu and the Volcano road on Hawaii, which latter will be completed during the coming summer. But with the giant passenger steamships Malolo and City of Honolulu soon to enter regular service between the coast and Honolulu, the 1927 legislature has come to a realization of the fact that the long looked for invasion is at hand. Consequently much of the construction work that is authorized for the coming two years is highway work, in many cases opening up country rich in scenic grandeur.

This is especially true of the appropriation of $175,000 for the construction of a paved road along the Kauai, a chasm smaller but no less brilliantly colored than the Grand Canyon itself.

Build New Highway

The Kamehameha Highway, edge of Waimea Canyon, island of Oahu's historic belt road, is being continued with a $450,000 appropriation, and paved roads are to be constructed in the rugged North Kohala mountains as the big island, Hawaii, which will open up country hitherto unknown to a large portion of travelers who make the round-the-island trip.

An appropriation of $75,000, sponsored by Senator Francis H. I. Brown, Hawaii's golf champion, provides for the purchase of lands in Palolo Valley, a Honolulu suburb for development into a municipal golf course, and $50,000 more has been appropriated for the reclamation of the sand beach at Waikiki, work which has been carried on successfully by private capital during the last year.

Britain Is Testing Metal Flying Boat

(International News Service)

LONDON, June 3.—A new all-metal flying boat, driven by two Napier engines totalling 1,000 horsepower, and constructed mainly of stainless steel, has now completed tests at the British Air Ministry's Secret Marine Air Station at Felixstowe.

This flying boat is intended for use at the new Singapore Air Base, and has been designed to operate in tropical and semi-tropical climates.

It is a development of the Southampton Napier flying boat which is now standard equipment of the British fleet air arm.

A number of these are to leave England early next year to fly to Singapore and Australia, and will be permanently sationed in the Far East for the defence of British Empire communications.

Epochal Features To Commencement Program At Westminster College

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, June 3.—Commencement week, probably the most significant in the history of Westminster college, will be inaugurated by two athletic events Saturday afternoon and will continue until next Wednesday afternoon when commencement takes place.

Three features climax the program for the week. They are: A graduating class of more than 70 which is the largest class in the history of the United Presbyterian school; the breaking of ground for the Audley Browne Memorial dormitory and the visit of Governor John S. Fisher of Pennsylvania, who will attend the commencement exercises at 2 p. m. Wednesday in the United Presbyterian church.

Two special services will be held in the U. P. church Sunday. At 11 a. m. John C. Hanley of Lexington, Ky., a graduate of the college and now president of Sayre college, will deliver the Christian association sermon. President W. Charles Wallace will deliver the baccalaureate address at 8 p. m. in the U. P. church.

Monday will witness the closing chapel service of the year at 10 a. m. in the U. P. church. At 3:30 p. m. the faculty and seniors will engage in a ball game. Dr. Wallace a speed ball artist will occupy the mound for the faculty.

Tuesday will be Alumni day and hundreds of grads and former students of the college are expected to join in the activities of the day. The day's schedule is 10 a. m., meeting of board of trustees; 12 o'clock, Alumni dinner; 1:30 p. m. Alumni business meeting; 3 p. m., ground breaking for the new dormitory; 3:30 p. m., senior class day; 5 p. m., class and fraternity reunions; 8:30 p. m., musical concert; 10 p. m., peace pow-wow.

Dr. S. C. Gamble of Butler will deliver the commencement address at 2 p. m. Wednesday in the U. P. church.

Meat Trade War Soon Settled By Marketing Plan

(International News Service)

LONDON, June 3.—A settlement of the great triangular chilled meat trade war, which has lasted between American, British, and Argentinian firms for nearly two years and has cost the companies concerned probably fifty million dollars, is understood to be now almost certain.

It is anticipated that an agreement between all the companies will be signed in the immediate future. The last negotiations broke down as a result of the smaller companies refusing to accept the small balance of trade offered to them by the three big firms, Vestey's of Britain and the Argentine, and Swifts and Armours, of America.

These three concerns, it is understood, have now offered the smaller companies a larger share of the trade, and through a mediator all the companies concerned have definitely stated the percentage they will agree to, apart from what other firms are getting. This will do away with the position which has arisen in previous negotiations, when firms have increased their demands to reach the same level as a rival concern.

It is now considered that as a result of the new basis of negotiations the chances are a hundred to one of the agreement being signed. The proposed agreement should enable every company to make a reasonable profit in the future.

A NICE BALANCE.

Mrs. Robbins—If those shoes hurt your feet why don't you take them back?

Robbins—I'll put them away for now and break them in some time when I have a headache.

The Massachusetts supreme court has decided that manufacturers of trim or finish used in the construction of buildings are entitled to injunction relief against the carpenters' union for refusal of the members of those unions to install non-union-made material.

HOW MRS. WEAVER WAS HELPED

By Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

As Mrs. Weaver herself says, "I was never very strong." This is a mild statement describing her condition, for, according to her letters, she was subjected to no small amount of ill health. Fortunately, her sister was familiar with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and begged Mrs. Weaver to try it. "After three or four weeks," writes Mrs. Weaver, "I felt a great difference in myself. I would go to bed and sleep sound, and although I could not do very much work, I seemed stronger. I kept on taking it and now I am well and strong, do my work and take care of three children. I sure do tell my friends about your wonderful medicine, and I will answer any letters from women asking about the Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. Lawrence Weaver, East Smithfield St., Mt. Pleasant, Pa.

If you knew that thousands of women suffering from troubles similar to those you are enduring had improved their health by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, wouldn't you think it was worth a trial?

MY KITCHEN NOTEBOOK

Why Don't You Give "Little Luncheons"?

There's nothing more delightful than being invited to lunch informally with three or four other women. One slips into a simple frock and dashes off for a light, guaranteed-non-fattening luncheon and a gay visit or game of bridge with pleasant companions. It's the easiest way in the world to entertain and the most enjoyable. Yet some women make a task of such a luncheon.

Make your luncheons "little" ones, simple both as to foods and service. Everyone will like it better—and you can afford to do it oftener. In these days when most women refuse to eat more than a mouthful or two anyhow, the elaborate luncheon isn't really considered smart.

If you want a hot dish, creamed sea foods—lobster, shrimp or tuna—are nice. Souffles present endless possibilities. I am giving a recipe today for chicken souffle, but you can just as well make it a cheese or salmon souffle.

Among salads, I have some interesting ones, for which I'll be glad to send you recipes—apricot, blue plum, onion and orange, grapefruit, cucumber gelatin, peach. With the salad you might serve cheese biscuit, airy popovers or date or raspberry muffins.

As for desserts, there are the delicious chocolate or pineapple bavarians, maple mousse, a date or devil's food cake, prune whip or lemon rice cream, and scores of other tempting things.

Carnation Is an Important Ingredient of These Recipes

You will be interested to know that in every one of these recipes, Carnation Milk is one of the most important ingredients. I prefer it to milk in any other form, because it gives results that even the best of bottled milk cannot equal—a rich smoothness, a creaminess, a fineness and delicacy of texture that are unmistakable.

Carnation is simply the purest whole milk, evaporated to double richness and sterilized for safe-keeping. It is "homogenized" to break up the cream into minute particles and distribute them uniformly throughout the milk, giving every drop its double share of enriching cream. You'll find Carnation the most convenient, economical and dependable milk for all cooking.

Won't you write for the free Carnation Cook Book—"My Hundred Favorite Recipes"? Address Carnation Milk Products Co., 100 Carnation Bldg., Oconomowoc, Wisconsin.

Chicken Souffle

3 tbsp. butter, 4 tbsp. flour, ⅓ cup Carnation Milk diluted with ⅓ cup water, 1 cup finely chopped chicken, 1 tbsp. chopped parsley, 3 eggs, few grains pepper, ½ tsp. salt, ¼ tsp. baking powder. Make a white sauce of the butter, flour, salt, pepper and milk. Add chicken and parsley; cool mixture; add egg yolks, well beaten; fold in stiffly beaten whites and baking powder, blending well. Pour into oiled baking dish; bake in 300°F. oven 45 minutes. Serve at once!

Six Bugles Added To Bugle And Drum Corps

GROVE CITY, Pa., June 3.—Six more bugles will be added to the present membership of the Grove City American Legion Bugle and Drum Corps, according to the announcement made Thursday morning by Kenneth Lauderdale, president of the organization. The addition of the six buglers will increase the membership to twenty-two, fourteen buglers, six snare drummers, one bass drum and one pair of cymbals.

The new men will be taken into the organization at the regular practice session this evening. The present membership includes—Buglers, Kenneth Lauderdale, Russell Freet, Paul Hassler, J. P. Hassler, C. R. Loney, John Gurskey, Walter Kerns, Mr. Gleasner and P. W. Allen; Drummers, Rodger Ormond, Bill Porter, C. W. Davis, Robert Hoagland, Glenn Carruthers, H. M. Carruthers and Harvey Young.

But if you cling fast to the progressive ideas you have now, somebody thirty years from now will call you a darned old Conservative.

The wicked provide their own undoing. Much reading of naughty stuff takes away the ability to get a kick out of it.

Still, it takes a lot of nerve in some instances, to say man "de-veloped" from the ape.

Prof. Low In Forecast Of 20 Years Hence Sees Wondrous Changes

Casual Cross-Atlantic Phoning And Artificial Sunlight To Come

By CHARLES A. SMITH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, June 3. — Having accurately predicted the advent of the trans-Atlantic telephone, Professor A. M. Low, the famous English scientist and inventor, has turned his thoughts to what the world and its inhabitants will look like and be doing twenty years hence.

His conclusions are contained in an article in the London Daily Mail, in which he forecasts that in 1950 the television screen will project world events before our eyes; we shall telephone across the ocean as casually as we telephone to a friend in the next street; artificial sunlight will pour strength into us as we sit; an aeroplane at the door will excite no more comment than an automobile does now; and we shall have to wear ear shields against the terrific noises.

Labor Saving Ideas

Labor saving ideas in the world of 1950 will be represented by the absence of dust-collecting corners, stoves, and chimneys, and the delivery of food from a community kitchen, if our meals are not absorbed in the form of pills, according to Professor Low.

"Mr. Jones, reading his morning newspaper in 1950," writes Professor Low, "will have lost his parochial outlook. He will be anxious to know what happened in foreign countries as he is today to read the local news, because he will have been to them, thanks to facilities for cheap, swift, and comfortable travel.

"If Jones is wealthy he will unquestionably make use of television and his room will be heated electrically by a system which will bring such luxuries within the reach of all.

"The man of the future will probably enjoy electrical treatment during his sleep, and artifical light, both health-giving and pleasant, will be so cheap that houses will be built without restriction imposed by a vain endeavor to locate the sun.

Advance For Women

"The next twenty years will undoubtedly see a great advance in the position of women. With the gradual evasion of physical disabilities, I do not believe that women will trouble to stay at home. I think that electrical cooking, cleaning, and heating will remove the drugery from domestic existence, and I believe that children will be educated on the quantity production scale after a psychological study of their natural tendencies.

"Women will cease to expect the suggestion of protection and will despise the weakness that is implied by any remnant of chivalry.

"I believe that within twenty years the languages of all nations will have partially blended as the direct result of inter-marriage and trans-European conversations."

HATRED OF EX-WIFE CAUSED MAN TO SEEK HER DEATH, CHARGE

BALTIMORE, June 3.—Hatred for a wife who divorced him 15 years ago, the police claim, caused a 63-year-old man to employ a man to kill the woman and her second husband. The alleged plot was revealed to the authorities by the former wife after the "hired murderer" became frightened and explained his mission when he went to kill her Monday.

George Kroyski, 29, who the police claimed confessed to being offered $150 if he would execute the murders, and Simon Nitkowski, the first husband, were held in bond today on charges of conspiring to do bodily harm to the couple. Nitkowski denied the charge.

The only ones who must compete with dead people are authors and a widower's second wife.

MERCER NEWS

A bridge at Carlton on the Lakes to the Seas Highway will be built as soon as possible it is reported today by county Engineer F. P. Graham.

The bridge, an iron structure of 60 feet will be replaced with a concrete and steel bridge of a 24 foot span. The road will be built full width of 24 feet.

It is reported that several other bridges are in bad repair and some of them may be replaced during the summer.

The Pennsylvania Bankers Association will hold their annual convention at Pittsburgh June 8, 9, and 10.

The sessions of the convention will be held at the William Penn Hotel.

The close proximity of the gathering will be taken advantage of by many Mercer County bankers to attend.

The condition of Miss Bessie Miller is reported improved at the Mercer hospital where she was taken for treatment.

Miss Miller is a member of the faculty of Mercer High School but was forced to give up her work the first of May.

Two bridges in Green township built by the Alex. Railey Company of Phillipsburg will be inspected at once.

Petitions asking that viewers be appointed to make approval of the bridges before payment of the final estimates were presented the court by County Commissioners.

The bridges were contracted for on September 7th, 1925 and started that fall. They were completed during 1926. The court made appointment of the following board of viewers T. A. Sampson of Mercer, C. P. Clarke of Greenville and Harry Hunter of Leesburg to make final inspection of the bridges.

Tentative dates for the gathering of the wool pool of the Mercer County Sheep Growers Association have been set for June 23, 24 and 25. A meeting of the members of the association will be held this week at the office of the County Farm Bureau when the directors will take action on the confirmation of these dates if suitable.

It is reported that the major portion o fthe county sheep are sheared and the wool cut is ready for pooling.

It will be pooled this year as before under the supervision of W. B. Connel, sheep specialist of State College.

The county organization has purchased during the last year a new wool house in Cherry Alley which is now being made ready for use.

Hunters desiring to indulge in groundhog hunting this summer who have a 1926 license may do so with safety. The hunter however who must first buy a license will be out of luck for no 1927 licenses have arrived and there is very little prospect of any being issued until past the customary date of August.

The burning of the State print shops destroyed what number were ready to be released.

It is reported also that the licenses will be materially reduced in size this year. Four of them will occupy in booklet form the space covered by one of the old issue it is reported.

APPLE SAUCE

Many years ago old Ben Franklin said:

"For age and want save while you may,
For no morning sun lasts a whole day."

But of course the young married couple who wants a $200 radio set and a new buzz wagon will say old Ben was an ass.

Way Of Bootlegger Hard One In State Reports Indicate

By ROBERT W. GINSBERG
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PITTSBURGH, Pa., June 3. — The way of the bootlegger is a hard one in this section of the state.

Figures in the office of John D. Pennington, prohibition administrator for the 6th Federal District, reapportioned last December 1 showed this today. The territory over which Pennington has supervision is composed of 25 counties in Western Pennsylvania, 4 in Western Maryland and all of West Virginia.

Records in the administrator's office showed there have been more raids hade, mode arrests executed, more illicit stills, liquors and mash confiscated, and more automobiles taken over by the Government than ever before in the history of prohibition here.

Pennington was modest regarding the accomplishments of his department however, asked to what specific thing he attributed the apparent slackening in the liquor traffic in this territory, the administrator said he didn't know.

He said any one of several things might have been the cause, or they all may have been contributing factors to the improvement in the situation here.

People are afraid to drink liquor these days, Pennington said, unless they were absolutely sure of its origin. Fancy labels and Government revenue stamps that once were guarantees of bonded spirits, no longer tempt the present day drinker, according to the administrator.

There have been too many instances where the so-called "good stuff" has resulted disastrously, he pointed out.

Another factor has been the demand of Pennington that all of his men be honest. The bootleggers in this territory have learned they no longer can "get to" a Federal agent working under the former naval officer. Twenty men have been indicted, and two are now serving terms in Atlanta penitentiary because they were willing not to see too much.

"It's alright with me if they want to be dishonest," Pennington told the writer. "But they better never let me catch them at it."

No little credit for the success against the bootleggers in the last six months must be given Pennington's enforcement division, working under Capt. W. Bruce Murray.

These men raided 2,017 places during the last six months and arrested 2,916 persons. It has been conservatively estimated that $10,424,000 damage has been done the bootlegging business as a result of the raids.

One can readily understand the estimate when the records of the department showed 953 stills captured during the six month period. These had a total capacity of 72,953 gallons of illegal moonshine daily. Figuring $4 a gallon it can be easily seen how the losses would mount up into the millions.

Aside from that, however, the agents destroyed 625,567 gallons of mash, 158,350 pounds of corn sugar, 32,743 gallons of moonshine, 8,398 gallons of alcohol, (denatured and grain); 64,941 gallons of beer; 9,555 gallons of wine; 1,447 gallons of miscellaneous drinks, not to mention beer shooting, alcohol rectifying, cutting and storage plants.

But that was not all, following out the policy of getting the illicit trade "at the source," the department has confiscated 340 automobiles used in transporting liquors from the source of supply to the consumer.

The work of the agents during the past six months stands out as an achievement over any similar period since the enactment of the famous Volstead Act during the war.

However, the enforcement division is only one branch of the prohibition work. There is a staff of men in the headquarters here that keep a constant check on licensed breweries, drug stores, doctors and others who legally have a right to use alcohol.

Pennington thinks a great deal of his men in this department Their work goes unsung. No one seems to care or take an interest in the work they are doing, outside the prohibition offices.

But it is on these men, Pennington says, that rests the responsibility that the country is not flooded with liquor. They must go over the reports of breweries, distilleries, druggists, doctors and everyone who is entitled to legally manufacture and sell intoxicants.

That their work is well done is evidenced by the fact that only one tried to step over the line during the last six months, and it was promptly raided.

Girl Sack Murder Mystery Vanishes

YOUNGSTOWN, O., June 3. — Sheriff Peter Corll had visions of a fresh murder mystery when he received a telephone call asking if he had found the body of a girl hidden in a sack along the road to New Castle, Pa. The inquirer refused to give his name.

Deputies were ordered out and the sheriff police busied themselves.

A detailed hunt however, failed to locate any tangible clew or any one who had heard of the murder.

Sheriff Corll believed he was the victim of a hoax.

The scientist who claims that the earth is hollow must have some inside information.

CHINA'S ARMIES MOVE NORTH

Following three weeks of indecisive action the armies of the three governments of China are again moving toward battle with Peking, the capital city, as the objective. Chang Tso Lin, chief of the Northern armies, and defender of the city, has been reported defeated at Chengchow on the south bank of the Huang-Ho or Yellow river by the Cantonese forces moving north, out of Hankow under Feng Yu-hsiang. Chiang Kai-shek, former Cantonese commander and now leader of the moderate government at Nanking, has mustered his forces and is said to have won important victories over the Northerners in the province of Kiangsu. The situation now resembles a triangle with Peking at the apex and the Cantonese and Moderates moving north for the coveted prize, the capital city. The Moderate leader faces the problem of watching the Cantonese on his left in addition to pushing north against the retreating forces of Chang Tso Lin. Insets on the map show the three leaders.

Europe Swarms With Spies For Many Nations

Espoinage Equal To That Of Before World War Is Being Carried On

England Watches Channel Ports And Turns Back All Suspected Persons

By H. K. REYNOLDS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, June 3. — Europe is swarming with spies. Information from British and Continental sources reveals that espionage and counter-espionage is being carried on today by the principal European Governments in a manner as elaborate and as careful as that which existed before the World War.

Hardly a week passes that a spy, either man or woman, is not taken into custody at one of the Channel ports, held for a few days, and compelled to return to the Continent with instructions never to attempt to enter England again. Serving a sentence now in British prison, after which she will be deported, is a notorious German spy, Kate Gussfedt, who entered this country ostensibly for the purpose of attending a meeting of the International Workers' Relief Committee.

Rubber Faced Woman

En route south from the conference in Glasgow, Miss Gussfeldt, who is known as the "woman with the rubber face" because of her ability to change her facial expression at will, changed her clothes in the train with another woman in an attempt to outwit the police, but was arrested and sent to prison charged with a technical violation of the Aliens' Act pending her deportation. In the woman's possession were documents in invisible ink, which, when rendered readable, showed, according to Sir Wyndham Childs, the Scotland Yard prosecutor, that she was engaged in espionage "against a friendly foreign Power," probably France.

Military developments since the war, such as aviation, poison gas, and submarines, have increased the scope of the work which has always fallen to international spies, some of which now receive hundreds of thousands of dollars a year for the secret information which they place in the hands of the Governments to which they are attached. The spies, too, have profited from the lessons learned between 1914 and 1918, when the utmost cunning was required to keep out of the nets laid by counter-espionage workers of all countries.

"Free Lance" Spies

Not all spies are attached to a particular Government, for which they work to the exclusion of all others, for many operate as "free lances," obtaining military, naval and political secrets where they may, and selling it to the highest bidder. Such secret agents often cause embarrassments to the Powers, as when arrested by the police of another country they are liable to have evidence in their possession which indicates that they have been sent on a particular spying mission, while, in fact, they are merely speculating on the chance of turning up something for which they can get a big price.

No foreign government is free from the spy menace.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

BY MRS. MARY MORTON

MENU HINTS

Timely desserts are the subject of today's recipes. There are people who say they never eat desserts. But I have always felt that they were not quite human. Personally the dessert course can make or mar the meal for me, and I think there are many who feel as I do. Pineapples, strawberries and rhubarb are in the limelight just now, and consequently the recipes feature these three fruits made into desserts.

Broiled Fresh Fish
Potato Chips Lettuce
Creamed Peas.
Dessert Coffee

TODAY'S RECIPES

Strawberries a la Sherry—For each quart of strawberries take the juice of one lemon and a cup of powdered sugar. Mix thoroughly, let stand ten minutes and serve with plain cake or wafers.

French Pie—Have rhubarb sauce ready made. Line a buttered pie plate with good short crust, finish the edge by marking with the floured tine of a fork, prick the bottom with a fork and dust with a little flour. Lay a round of crust on top, flour again and lay on another layer. Then bake until the crusts are done. When cool remove the crusts, fill the pie quarter full, then lay on one crust, cover with a layer of rhubarb and put on the other. Sprinkle with powdered sugar and serve.

Rice Mold with Pineapple—One-half envelope gelatin, one-fourth cup cold water, one-half cup scalded pineappple juice, one-half cup sugar, few grains salt, one cup cooked rice, one cup whipped cream, one tablespoon lemon juice. Soak gelatin in cold water five minutes, and dissolve by standing cup in hot water. Add pineapple juice, sugar and salt to rice. Strain into this the gelatin, and mix thoroughly; cool slightly, and add whipped cream and lemon juice. Turn into molds lined with slices of pineapple. Chill, and serve with or without whipped cream. Other fruits may be used in place of pineapple.

Rhubarb Shortcake.—Make a shortcake as for strawberries or peaches, but use for the filling the following mixture: Rhubarb which has been stewed and sweetened to taste and mixed with chopped citron or candled orange peel. Garnish the top with whipped cream.

SUGGESTIONS

Delicately Scented

A muslin bag containing a little orris root placed in the water when boiling handkerchiefs will give them a faint but lovely scent of violets.

Spice Flavors

Spices left open will quickly lose all flavor. Keep a set of labeled jars or tins for coffee, tea and condiments.

Mr. Greenewalt received a blackhand letter yesterday demanding that he place $200 at the bottom of two poles in the northern part of town between 9 and 9:30 o'clock last night. Police were notified and concealed themselves near the poles. At 9:45 Veronese and Answine approached and as they stopped to pick up the package containing a marked bill wrapped around a roll of paper, Chief Yurt fired his revolver in the air and ordered them to put up their hands. The three others a short distance away ran and were arrested at their homes later.

WHITE HOUSE "JESTER" HANDS MANY LAUGHS TO PRESIDENT

By GEORGE E. DURNO
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, June 3.—Introducing America's court jester—

Ballads and fables of old tell us of the funny men who entertained the kings and emporers of days gone by, and the court of Calvin, the First, is no exception to the rule in the presence of such.

The White House "jester," if he may be so designated, is George O'Connor, staid Washington business man by day and silver-voiced comedian by night. Certain it is that George, to layse into the vernacular, has handed President Coolidge more laughs than any dozen other entertainers he has viewed since taking over control of the Nation's affairs. And the reason for this is that George and the President have "appeared on the same program" about ten times to every once that Mr. Coolidge has attended a theatre.

George O'Connor is known by name to at least virtually every resident of the National Capital. He and his partner, Matt Horn—who beats a mean piano—may be found among those present at about half the banquets given in Washington during the course of a year. They are not paid entertainers—both receive ample incomes from the business world—but their presence is always in demand and the committee on arrangements is always hopeful that a few songs and a few tunes will ensue.

Presidents also enhance any banquet and thus the pair have been thrown together socially many evenings since 1923. And when George sings the Coolidge plams always lead the applause.

A short, stocky man with a typical, twinkley-eyed Irish face, O'Conner goes in for character songs.

It seems clear enough now that much of the political eloquence of the old days was in the hooch the audience had.

Big Murders And Divorce Trials Take Front Pages From Politics

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, June 3.—Big murder trials and spectacular divorce cases are vieing in America with national political conventions for front page space in the newspapers.

The recent trial of Mrs. Ruth Brown Snyder and Henry Judd Gray in Long Island City, N. Y., "compared favorably in the volume of words transmitted by telegraph with certain national conventions," according to an announcement by the Western Union Telegraph Company.

Three times as many words were telegraphed out of Somerville, N.J., during the Hall-Mills murder trial last fall, and the wordage from White Plains, N. Y., on the Browning separation suit ran well over the 1,000,000 mark.

On Many Wires

There were 41 telegraph wires carrying news out of the Queens County courthouse at the Snyder-Gray trial. Thirteen of these wires were privately leased by press associations and individual newspapers. There were so many wires that it was necessary to place them on two floors, on the third floor where the trial was being held, and in the basement. International News Service's two leased wires were on the third floor, in a room just off the courtroom.

In Somerville at the Hall-Mills case the entire basement was made over into a huge, clattering telegraph room.

At the Snyder-Gray trial, the Western Union, with 19 toll wires handled 1,318,311 words during the sixteen days of the trial, which compares with 4,693,311 words handled by that company on the Hall-Mills case which lasted nearly five weeks and was held in a place less accessible to the newspaper offices of New York City.

The Western Union, during the Republican National Convention in Cleveland in 1924, transmitted 2,397,866 words of press, and during the long drawn out Democratic National Convention in New York the same year sent out 9,705,603 words, which is perhaps the record of a single big news story except, of coure, the world war.

Bee Hive Activity

At all of America's big court trials the telegraph rooms are bee hives of activity during court hours. The fastest operators are assigned to handle the "flashes" and "bulletins" and running stories as fast as the news "breaks" in the courtroom.

These trials have been coming so fast newspaper men and operators have become well acquainted with each other.

At the Snyder-Gray trial the longest wire set up by the Western Union for handling individual press dispatches was to a newspaper at Birmingham, Ala., 1,032 miles away. Most of the American newspapers depended upon the press associations for their reports of the sensational case.

Interest in this trial was international. Cable officials reported an unusually heavy file, Germany and Scandinavian nations leading in the amount received. Mrs. Snyder was of Scandinavian decent although she was born and raised in New York City. The longest individual newspaper dispatch was one of 53,120 words addressed to a New York morning newspaper and contained a full "Q" and "A" running story of one day's proceedings.

The international treaty which was adopted by the Washington Conference in 1919 fixing the minimum age for employment in industry at 14 years (12 for Japan and India) has now been ratified by fifteen nations.

Man Admits Mailing Two Pistols, But Escapes Punishment

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., June 3.—The first arrest under an act passed by the last Congress, which forbids the sending of firearms in the mails, yesterday resulted in the discharge of the offender when he pleaded ignorance of the law. At the same time, however, a warning was given by Federal officials that the law will be fully enforced.

The first man arrested in Philadelphia under the new act is Lewis Sulkowitch, a pawnbroker, 9th and Arch streets. According to Postal Inspector Chase, a package containing two pistols, was shipped by Sulkowitch to Edwin R. Fauss, Burkeville, Ill., was intercepted at the Postoffice two days after the act went into effect May 14. Commissioner Manley freed Sulkowitch with a warning.

The law provides for a penalty of three years' imprisonment, $1000 fine, or both.

Warning Against Immigrant Flood Sounded By Reed

CHICAGO, June 3.—Control of immigration is the most important subject in American politics today, yet the average American is giving it no thought, Senator David A. Reed of Pennsylvania told the Chicago Association of Commerce today.

In January he said there were 1,501,155 applications pending in European consulates for permission to migrate to the United States and that behind them stands a far greater host that wishes to come.

"Imagine the effect on the employment situation if the bars are lowered" Reed said. "These 1,501,155 cannot find employment here without displacing Americans."

Franklin Will Vote On New Junior High

FRANKLIN, Pa., June 3.—Franklin's school board, with only one dissenting vote, has decided to resubmit to the voters of the district the proposition of a junior high school.

The issue was lost by a more than 2 to 1 vote at the November election.

The need for school enlargement, however, is so great, school officials contend, that something must be done soon to remedy conditions or pupils will be forced to go on half time. One building the Union, has been in use for 60 years and the third floor of it, now in use, has been condemned by the state authorities. Immediate action is necessary to correct this condition.

The first bond issue proposal was defeated on the ground that it meant a greatly increased millage rate just at the time when the city taxes had been increased.

Freshman In 1880, She Gets Sheepskin At 68

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., June 3.—The goal of a college degree toward which she started forty-seven years ago as a freshman at Wellesley was reached yesterday by Mrs. Dora Isabelle Smith, sixty-eight, of Bessemer, Ala, when she received her sheekskin from Alabama College, Montevallo.

Since her Wellesley days Miss Smith has been a teacher and a missionary in China. She never lost her desire for a college education, and returned from the Orient to get one.

Cudahy's puritan Ham
Finer Flavor because—ripened naturally

Distinguished in name. Puritan Ham is—"First in the Land," because of its finer flavor and greater tenderness.
Puritan owes this distinction to the special Cudahy method of curing—"ripened naturally."
This method naturally diffuses the sweet juices of the young meats selected for Puritan, without forcing or hurrying.
The result is likened to fruit tree-ripened compared to that artificially ripened. You'll thoroughly enjoy Puritan Ham.

"Devilment" Loved By Flight Hero, "Just A Big Kid"

THIS IS MRS. LINDBERGH'S HOME IN DETROIT AND INSET, A PHOTO OF HER HUSBAND TAKEN IN 1909 WHEN HE WAS CONGRESSMAN

"Slim" wasn't too busy to play a few innocent jokes at school

(A new vision of Charles A. Lindbergh—a delightful revealing vision of this phenomenal youth—is brought out in this, the seventh of 10 instalments on his life, written so vividly and compellingly by Miss Bonita Witt, one of the star writers of the Central Press, who visited Lindbergh's mother to hear the tale from her lips.)

By BONITA WITT
Staff Writer of Central Press and New Castle News

VII

As the time drew near for Charles Lindbergh's New York-Paris nonstop flight he had little time for jokes, minutes were precious and fun was forgotten. Not so at Brooks-Kelly, the government aviation school at San Antonio, Tex., which Lindbergh attended in 1924-25, his friends say.

Captain Eugene Stevens, now a "cotton-dusting" flyer at Tallulah, La., one of Lindbergh's classmates at the aviation school, recalls when devilment was afoot "the Swede" was never in the background.

"One night", he relates, "before I went to 'town', I delivered an ultimatum that any one who mussed my bed in my absence would be dumped to the floor on my return. Turning to Lindbergh, I said, 'Swede, you're going to be the first one to get roughed if my bed has been tampered with.'

"Coming in rather late that night I found my bed topsy-turvy and all my belongings piled on top of it. As I started down the barracks to 'Slim's' bed I heard the titters of the other cadets following me. Lindbergh looked at me with an innocent look in his big eyes and pleaded, 'Aw, Steve, you wouldn't dump me, would you?'

Lindbergh Was Too Clever

"'Sure would', I replied, and seized the bed. I yanked and yanked, but the bed wouldn't budge. Lindbergh had driven nails into the floor and tied the bed to them with ropes! Couldn't get ahead of the 'Swede' when it came to playing a joke. He was a good sport and could take a joke on himself: 'Slim' was just a big kid and we all liked him.

"Of course none of us realized then that he was to become a world sensation. He was just one of us."

It was while Lindbergh was a flying cadet that his father died in 1924. Charles A. Lindbergh was one of the outstanding political leaders in Minnesota. He was born in Sweden in 1859, coming to this country the next year. "Slim's" grandfather was a member of the Swedish legislature in 1858; political life, therefore, was a heritage.

Congressman Lindbergh was graduated from the law school at the University of Michigan and practiced law in Minnesota for more than 20 years. He achieved recognition as a writer on political economy and social questions and as a congressman aided in the drafting of the Federal Reserve bill. In Congress from 1907-1917 he was known as an indefatigable worker.

When he was running for governor of Minnesota on the Farmer-Labor ticket in 1923 Mrs. Lindbergh recalls that young Charles made several flights over Minnesota cities distributing campaign literature. His father accompanied him on a number of these flights.

Becomes Best Marksman

Returning to school after the funeral, "Slim" again plunged wholeheartedly into the routine of learning to be a flyer. Target practice gained at the University of Wisconsin stood him in good stead and he became one of the best marksmen in the class.

Shortly before his graduation Lindbergh went with a pursuit squadron to Galveston, Tex., for machine gun practice. The flyers would aim at a cone-shaped object, which in flying parlance is called a "sock", towed at the end of a 600-foot cable by a "tow-tagret ship". The cadets would dive for the tow ship, then open machine gun fire.

"Lindbergh", relates Captain Stevens, "twice aimed so accurately as to sever the cable from the ship. At the end of the practice session he had the highest number of 'hits' in the class.

"Luck? Perhaps you'd call it that, but there was a lot more science in Lindbergh's shooting than luck."

It was such practical science as this that paved the way for his epoch-making flight.

London Night Clubs Losing Patronage To Dancing Places

(International News Service)

LONDON, June 3.—The biggest change in the character of London night-life since the end of the world war is in progress. Leading London night clubs are fast losing their patrons, who are migrating to the newer and brighter "dance restaurants."

Realizing the position, many famous night clubs are changing from "dance clubs" to "dance restaurants." The Kit Cat Club, recently closed down for three months by the police, has not reopened in its old form, while the latest night club to change over is the Chez Victor.

In the view of Luigi, London's most famous club manager, night clubs have failed because too many unsuccessful night clubs had big lists of members who never dreamt of paying their subscriptions.

These annual payments have become increasingly difficult to rope in. A dance restaurant can offer as much entertainment and the same level of comfort. The difference is that it is open to the public and that no one pays a subscription.

In the opinion of Perosini, the principal proprietor of Chez Victor, night clubs are in a decline. They have come and gone so quickly that people have hesitated about paying subscriptions for a year. In some of the smaller and less reputable London night clubs it is often possible to see only four or five couples dancing or dining quite early in the morning, when a year ago there would be scores.

Book Of Great Value Received At Library

Dr. Edwin E. Slosson's "Physical Sciences" One Of New Reading Series

In a little book called Physical Sciences which the Public library has lately acquired, Dr. Edwin E. Slosson, director of science service at Washington, D. C., shows how closely the sciences are related to everyday life.

He reminds us that to run an automobile, and keep it running, requires the practical application of the laws of physics and chemistry. He points out that the kitchen is a chemical labratory, the human body a machine. Although every grown-up has gained a considerable knowledge of the physical sciences through his daily life and occupation, most of his knowledge is fragmentary and he can not make the best use of it because he has never collected his facts and generalized his ideas.

To help those who want to get their bearing Dr. Slosson suggests the systematic reading of a few simple books which he recommends. He promises that the person following the course will be able to sift his facts and to relate them to another. He says "To study physics and chemistry is like giving sight to a blind man. It opens to him a new world of undreamed of beauty, meaning and possibilities.

This reading course on the Physical Sciences is the eighteenth course in the "Reading with a purpose" series published by the American Library association. Some of the others cover biology, philosophy, literature, architecture, music, religion, poetry, etc.

Columbia Will Hop Off On Trip Across Atlantic

Bellanca Monoplane To Start Trip Late Today Or Tonight

CLARENCE CHAMBERLIN

(International News Service)

MINEOLA, N. Y., June 3.—The Bellanca Monoplane, Columbia, piloted by Clarence D. Chamberlin, will hop off from here to some point in Europe, probably Berlin, late this afternoon or tonight, according to plans announced today.

Chamberlin will be accompanied by a navigator whose name was not revealed. The navigator is said to be a former navy aviator.

Charles A. Levine, president of the Columbia Aircraft corporation which is backing the flight, today was in telephonic communication with the office of the National Aeronautical association in Washington. Levine asked that officials be sent to Curtis field to make an official record of the take-off.

Carl F. Schory, chairman of the contest committee of the association, was expected to leave Washington immediately for the Long Island field.

The Columbia was one of the first planes which prepared to attempt a New York-to-Paris hop. While the star was delayed through a controversy between Levine and Lloyd Bertaud, original companion aviator named with Chamberlin, Captain Charles A. Lindbergh came out of the West and achieved his historic trans-Atlantic flight. Bertaud then announced his breaking off of relationship with Levine.

E. And A. Employes Establish Record

Erie and Ashtabula division of the Pennsylvania Railroad have just completed a record safety accomplishment, having gone through the months of April and May without a single reportable accident.

This is considered quite a record when it is taken into account that this division of the railroad employs over 3200 men and women, some of them in the most hazardous positions.

This 100 per cent safety record has been done only by the co-operative effort of every employe and has been brought about by the safety department keeping constantly before everyone the slogan of "Safety First." Last year the E. & A. division stood next to last place among the different divisions of the company but starting with last November they have been steadily climbing towards the top and now hold top place.

WANT TRAFFIC LIGHT AT INTERSECTION OF JEFFERSON-WALLACE

Residents near the corner of Wallace avenue and North Jefferson street will ask council to install a traffic light at the street intersection. It is claimed that this is one of the most dangerous corners in the city, that several accidents have occurred, and that there is likely to be serious accidents.

Persons driving west on Wallace avenue are prevented from seeing far to the left on account of a house on the corner; persons coming up Jefferson and wanting to make the turn into West Wallace to go to the Shenango Valley hospital, find it difficult. It is also claimed that this is one of the worst places in the city for the speeding of cars coming toward the city.

Posts New Prize

William E. Easterwood, Jr. of Dallas, Tex., brother of the late Lieut. Jesse L. "Red" Easterwood, American ace, not only has offered to pay the income tax on Captain Charles Lindbergh's $25,000 prize, but has posted a prize of $25,000 for the first aviator who flies from Dallas to Hong Kong, China, or vice versa, in 155 hours. The conditions of the flight include two permissible stops, with, however, a non-stop jump from Dallas to Honolulu. "Red" Easterwood was killed in a plane collision in 1919 in Panama as he was planning a trans-Atlantic flight.

State To Spend Large Sum For New Construction

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Pa., June 3.—Pennsylvania plans to spend almost $13,000,000 of state funds in new construction during the coming two years. Detailed figures compiled today by Budget Secretary Arthur Townsend shows the amount for each of the various departments.

In addition to the amount for new construction the state will spend $1,638,400 for the purchase of land under supervision of the Department of Forests and Waters. Of the total $500,000 will go for the purchase of waste land in various parts of the state and $450,000 for acquisition of the Cook forest tract.

Two million dollars is allotted the various normal schools of the state for new construction while State College will get $1,000,000.

PHILADELPHIA, June 3.—After deliberating more than 26 hours a jury in common pleas court returned a verdict finding Francis Leo Hines guilty of the murder of George Lye. The verdict fixing the penalty at life imprisonment was brought in at a night session.

Judge Harry S. McDevitt deferred sentence pending disposition of a motion by defense counsel for a new trial.

Petition To Strike Off Mechanics Liens

In the case of George O. Michael against the New Castle Silk Mills Company a petition was presented in court this morning to strike off a mechanic's lien. It is claimed that the defendant company contracted with L. E. Musser for an addition to cost $1,675, and that Michael, who was given a contract by Musser to do the painting for $125, filed a mechanic's lien for the amount. The Silk Mills Company claims that Michael was a subcontractor and that they had no notice that the lien was to be filed. There is also a similar case in connection with the purchase of cement blocks from the Ideal Concrete Products Company. Judge Hildebrand granted a rule on plaintiffs to show cause why the liens should not be stricken off.

Yes, Sir, Here's The Truth 'Bout Black Hills' Region

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Exclusive Central Press Dispatch to New Castle News.

WASHINGTON, June 3.—Having once already written up the Black Hills, where it now seems certain the Coolidges will "summer," I thought I was done with the subject.

But no.

The amount of misinformation which irresponsible Washington correspondents, who never've been there, have disseminated about those hills is too awful.

Another chapter is imperative. The public deserves to know the truth.

The correspondents talk as if the "hills" were a wilderness—say so, in fact.

Why, Deadwood and Lead, Belle-fourche, Hermosa, Hot Springs, Rapid City, Spearfish and Sturgis are "hills" towns, with all the way from nearly 1000 population up to more than five times that many apiece.

A place of 1000's a mere hamlet "down east," I know, but out there it's quite a city, with all the city's airs and a metropolis of 5000's a whale.

In my time in that section, the prominent resident of Hermosa who'd seen his town referred to as a "handful of souls," as I have lately, would have taken the war trail with a gun.

Back in the 90's, when the legislature met at Pierre, there were two delegations of "city slickers" among the lawmakers who lined up against the hicks, much as the New York and Chicago and Philly delegations line up against the ruralites here in Washington.

One of these delegations was from Sioux Falls, with 10,000 or 12,000 "souls"—the New York of South Dakota.

The other was from the "hills"—Dakota's "golden west."

It was an adventure getting from the "hills" to Pierre, the capital then. A hundred and fifty miles of range country cut 'em off from the rest of the state. There was no railroads across.

It was like traveling from the Pacific coast to Washington before there was a trans-continental line. You did it on a bronc or a buckboard or went 'way 'round via Nebraska and Iowa, passing through the regular modern Babylon of Sioux City, with about 25,000 "souls"—and a few other folks, souls not guaranteed.

The correspondents speak of the "hills" as getting their culture from Denver, Omaha, Minneapolis and St. Paul. Bunk! Sioux City gave 'em their culture from time immemorial.

But in the main the "hills" always have been pretty much sufficient unto 'emselves.

This goes geologically, too. The correspondents speak of 'em as "foothills of the Rockies." Bunk again! They're an independent upheaval. I can prove it on a stack of scientific books.

A hundred miles, mostly as flat as a plate, separate 'em from the eastern slope of the continental backbone.

The correspondents also tell big stories about game in the "hills."

Not having been there in many years, I can't speak personally as to that, but I have my doubts. What I hear is that the game's nearly all been killed off, except a few government-owned pets, like critters in a zoo.

However there's one varmint, once very numerous in those parts, that may linger yet. He's a tenacious cuss. That's the rattlesnake.

If Cal goes hunting him, he better be provided with some medicine that he'll need a dispensation from Wayne B. Wheeler to take along.

U. S. Engineers Stage Denver Convention

(International News Service)

DENVER, June 3. — Five hundred delegates are expected to attend the annual convention here July 11 to 16, of the American Society of Engineers, bringing together leaders in all phases of engineering projects, from practically every state in the union.

The convention, with its numerous divisional meetings, will be divided between this city and Colorado Springs, business sessions being held here the first three days and in the Springs thereafter.

Major engineering problems will be discussed before the convention sessions with plans for control of the Mississippi river floods having a prominent place on the program.

City planning, with a view to remedying the ever increasing congestion; highway construction; methods to solve the burdensome traffic problems of the large cities, and engineering projects of all kinds will be the subjects of various speakers before the convention.

John F. Stevens of New York, president of the association, who guided the construction of the Panama Canal, is expected to preside.

A feature of the entertainment program will be a trip by special train through the Moffat tunnel, a bore of more than six miles through the Rocky Mountains to be used for railroad trains, and a train trip through the Royal Gorge.

There's no definite time for the back-to-the-farm movement. It depends on when the last movie closes in town.

Enforcement On All Laws Is Poor Says Butler Judge

BUTLER, Pa., June 3.—The present day public is too much concerned with making money and too little about law enforcement, Judge John R. Henninger of the criminal bench believes.

"Enforcement is as poor on all laws as it is on the Eighteenth Amendment" the judge said in declaring the problem brought about by this situation "almost defies comprehension or solution."

"Law enforcement is not in the hands of the law enforcement people," he said, "and while no remedy for the situation has been proposed, it must be created by public sentiment."

Public sentiment, the judge asserted, is with the criminal.

It is easy to get petitions signed for him regardless of the law involved.

The trouble, he continued, lies with the citizens because they are getting the kind of government they want; it's the people's government and they get what they ask for.

As a result of this attitude the jurist charged the commonwealth and the defendant do not go into court on common terms.

"The fundamental mistake in our government is that we have treated our government as the enemy of the people. Conditions surrounding the question of enforcement have become alarming to every person in any way engaged in enforcement of the law," the judge concluded.

GIVES CATARRH VICTIMS ADVICE

Many People Will Profit From Surprising Story of Aged Ambridge Farmer's Life

"If the people of New Castle and vicinity who are troubled with catarrh—either slightly or seriously—will heed my advice they will start using World's Tonic at once," said an aged farm owner of Ambridge.

"I know about catarrh if I know about anything at all, because I'm an old man and I've suffered from catarrh about all my life."

"I first noticed catarrh when I was 20. Like many others, I didn't do anything about it. I had a headache once in awhile and was troubled with mucus dripping into my throat and I didn't think that was serious enough to do anything about. Well, I'll tell you what happened. Within a short time, the catarrh had become so bad that my stomach was severely affected. I became dyspeptic, belched, bloated, and had no apetite, lost weight and strength and my health generally went down rapidly. This in addition to the distress of catarrh in my head, nose and throat.

"I started fighting catarrh right away then. But it had gotten too good a hold. About all I could do was to keep it from getting worse. The truth is I couldn't find a good remedy—never did find one until I got this World's Tonic recently. World's Tonic has proved to be a wonder. It has done me more good in ten days than anything else ever did in ten years. That's a fact. World's Tonic is relieving my catarrh entirely.

"But as I said in the first place, don't let catarrh get a hold on you. Start fighting it right away. If you don't you'll be sorry. And use World's Tonic because it's the best thing I've found in a good many years of searching."

ONE IS APT TO GET OLD DOING ROUTINE WORK, SAYS WOMAN, 100

(International News Service)

SYRACUSE, N. Y., June 3.—Work hard, sleep soundly, keep up with the times, do the things that interest you, and you probably will live to be 200 years old, according to Mrs. Maria Wormuth Clapp Wells, of Ira, Cayuga, who rounded out one century of life a few days ago.

All day her birthday the spry old lady was up about her home, where she lives with her "boy," Loren J. Wormuth, 75, and his wife, welcoming friends and relatives. In the afternoon she was given a party and a birthday cake holding 100 candles.

I'm going to have an even better celebration on my 125th birthday," Mrs. Wells told her guests.

Though time has left its creases on the venerable centenarian's face, there is little about her that would lead one to believe her 100 years old. One might think her 70 or even 80 years old, but never 100.

"I like work," she said. "The harder I work the beter I sleep, and then I feel like doing a lot more work. I'm going to the city and get a pair of glasses in a few days, I guess. Until my eyes started to get weak a year ago I used to knit and read all day long during the winter.

"I haven't been so busy lately and I am beginning to feel that I shall become lazy unless I start knitting pretty soon. But with Spring coming on I will be able to work in my garden part of my time. I like my garden about as well as anything."

Mrs. Wells can remember when Syracuse and the rest of Central New York was almost a wilderness and is able to recall tales told by the "older folks" about the Revolution. The Civil War seems a recent occurance to her.

Daily routine is one thing she does not believe in.

"I don't let myself do the same things over and over, day after day" she explained. "One is apt to get old doing that."

She gets up in the morning when she feels like it does what suits her fancy during the day, and retires when the mood siezes her. Apparently one of the things that have kept this old lady young in her thoughts is the spirit of expectation she keeps ever before her. Every-day is a new adventure for her. She won't let it be a humdrum.

Since she first walked to the altar as the blushing bride of Henry Wormuth, Mrs. Wells has made the trip two additional times. And her three husbands all are dead.

Following the demise of Henry Wormuth, a few years after their marriage, Mrs. Wells was married to E. D. Clapp, a member of the wagonmaking firm of Clap and Van Patten, of Auburn. Her last husband was William Wells.

She has three children, Loren J. Wormuth, Mrs. Jared Dennick of Ira, born of her first marriage, and Delmar Clapp, who still conducts his father's factory in Auburn.

Only once during the last fifteen years has she been treated by a physician. That occasion was several years ago when she fell and fractured her hip, but recovered rapidly and now only a slight limp is all that remains to remind her of the injury.

Mrs. Wells was born on April 12, 1827, at Guilderland, Albany County, moving to Ira in 1865, where she has since lived except for the years passed in Auburn as the wife of D. E. Clapp. At the time of her wedding with Mr. Wells she was 60.

HOTEL DIRECTORS PREPARE TO LET NEW CONTRACT

Will Award Contract For Furnishings For "The Castleton" In Short Time

Directors of the New Castle community hotel, "The Castleton", are now busy looking over samples of furnishings being submitted by bidders for the contract for equipping the new hotel.

The samples are on display in the rooms in the Hamilton building at the corner of North and Mill streets formerly occupied by the tailoring establishment.

The directors expect to award the contract shortly.

Work on the hotel building is progressing to such an extent that the structure will be ready for furnishings by late summer, it is anticipated.

Moving 27 Ton Safe Door Is Huge Task

With a heave—and—ho, but it takes more than a heave and ho to make 27 tons go. At least, that is what the largest moving crew in New Castle, and part of another organization of the same ambitions from Youngstown found out, when they attempted to move the new door of the Union Trust company vault from the freight depot to its position for erection in the new vault building situated on Sycamore Way.

Now these moving outfits find no trouble when it comes to picking a house up off its foundations, and setting it down anywhere the owner wishes them to deposit it, but when it comes to a door—a twenty-seven ton one we mean, it's just too much for a day's work.

Thursday morning they loaded this safe door on some sort of a traveling box car towed by the biggest truck in two states, and hauled it over behind the new building. Since that time it has been a real "safe door", and no strong man in his great weakness can make away with it. In their efforts to place it in position these two wrecking crews succeeded in moving it slowly and in time will have it in place.

Work is progressing nicely on the addition to the bank building, which will be used as a vault and safety deposit box room. It will be one of the strongest in the country, the size of the door being some indication of the construction of the addition and the vault.

Captain LINDBERGH conquered the Atlantic with an air-cooled motor

Captain Lindbergh triumphed for two reasons—ability and a faithful motor. Ability was the more important, but — modestly — he credits the motor . . . . .

NEVER has so much responsibility been placed on a single motor. For 3600 miles it purred steadily along, never once hesitating to respond to a call. Through 1000 miles of rain, sleet and fog, from temperate warmth to freezing altitudes and back again, with never a complaint from the faithful air-cooled motor.

Why are Lindbergh, Acosta, Byrd and a host of the leading air pilots so enthusiastic about air-cooled motors? Evidently they know there is less to go wrong, fewer moving parts, no water to boil or freeze, no radiator and jackets to burst, no pumps to fail. Air-cooling leads to reliability, to weight saving and to higher motor efficiency.

This latest triumph of the air is a most astounding demonstration of a cooling system. Maintaining 107 miles per hour for 33½ hours and never a sign of cooling trouble.

Of this achievement Franklin is justly proud. Franklin perfected air-cooling for the world. Franklin owners are as confident of their air-cooled motors as the pilots are of theirs. Experience has shown owners that principles just as original and advanced as air-cooling are also responsible for the outstanding comfort, ease of handling, safe control, roadability and long life.

All that Franklin stands for is typified by Franklin ownership. Lindbergh's history-making feat added to day-by-day experience, only serves to show again why the Franklin Owner's next car is so generally another Franklin.

Mothers who are constantly with their children, often cannot judge whether certain physical changes are taking place normally, or not. The changes are so slight from day to day. But they are very important.

For normal growth, there are special needs which must be liberally provided for, authorities now declare.

One of the most important of these needs is for an abundance of protein. It is helpful to know how much real value certain foods have. Almost one-fourth of a child's daily need for protein is supplied by a cup of Mother's Oats with a cup of milk.

Vitamins are needed, too—and plenty of minerals, if physical development is to be perfect. These also are richly supplied by Mothers's Oats with milk. And energy materials, and bran.

For Mother's Oats is a natural whole-grain food. Its careful millers take pride in using only the cream of the oat crop each year, and then milling it in special ways to preserve all the natural health essentials. Because it is milled with such extra care, it is even-textured and fine—you can count on it always to cook up to the even smoothness that you like—always to have the same rich flavor.

Many Flood Control Schemes Pour In On Engineer Officers

By CHARLES P. SEWART.
Exclusive Central Press Dispatch to New Castle News.

WASHINGTON, June 2.—Mississippi valley flood control ideas are pouring in on the government in a tide not much less than that of the latest flood itself.

When Maj. Gen. Jadwin gets back from the stricken district to his headquarters as chief of the army engineers, he'll find his office swamped by them.

Secretary Hoover's suite at the commerce department is fairly drowned out with suggestions.

The weather bureau is getting plenty of the overflow.

It will be weeks before the last dotty scheme has been drained off into its appropriate wastebasket.

Of course the engineers and others like to get really practical hints, but some they've received (say about 99 and a fraction per cent) hardly promise to work out, put to the test.

Obviously this is too vague. Let it out where? The engineers can't figure out whether a double-deck river is meant or a conduit to carry off the surplus, or what.

Another man favors powerful pumps to drive the floods into the Gulf of Mexico at a swifter lick. If they don't go downstream fast enough to make room for a rising river behind, he urges, give 'em a shove.

As an alternative to a push from the rear, another engineer argues for suction—the principle of the tractor in preference to the propeller.

A fourth program contemplates turning the Mississippi's big tributaries like the Missouri and the Ohio, more directly to the southward, so as to make them empty into the Gulf through mouths of their own, instead of joining the Father of Waters. Expensive, yes,! —but think what it would save in flood damages.

Scouring out the Gulf has an advocate. He believes it could be done with compressed air. Simply blow the sand and sediment out of the Gulf's bed into the Atlantic in a series of gigantic puffs, as you'd blow dust off the piano top by lung power.

Quite a few authorities hold that the situation would be improved if farmers would plow lengthwise of the river valleys and 'round and 'round the hills, rather than crosswise of the valleys and straight up and down the hills, so as to hold the water in the furrows instead of letting it escape so fast.

The government engineers by the way, don't regard this as such a bughouse notion. They say it might not stop floods but it would help.

However, they aren't very hopeful that farmers in regions which aren't subject to floods and consequently don't care one way or the other ever can be prevailed on to adopt that method of plowing if it doesn't suit their convenience.

That's where they get a useful tip from some of their volunteer advisors who want a law passed penalizing any other kind of plowing, with fines and imprisonment.

At that, there are government engineers who predict that any number of the anti-flood plans they expect to come up in congress next winter will be fully as weird as most of those they're having dumped on them now.

Cleveland To Have Free Concerts In Municipal Parks

(International News Service)

CLEVELAND, O., June 3.—Free symphony concerts will be presented for the first time this summer in Cleveland under municipal auspices, for five weeks starting June 28.

The idea, inspired by the example of eleven other American cities supporting major symphony orchestras, was put into operation by City Manager William H. Hopkins who was also responsible recently for a successfully municipally sponsored spring opera season in Cleveland by the Metropolitan Opera Company.

New York, Cincinnati, Chicago, St. Louis, Hollywood, Los Angeles, Minneapolis, Detroit and San Francisco are some of the cities where symphony orchestras have been engaged for summer concerts.

Cleveland orchestra has disbanded every summer heretofore, some of its musicians going to Europe to study, others accepting temporary playing engagements. By cooperating with Mrs. Adella Prentiss Hughes, of the Cleveland Orchestra, Hopkins was able to sign fifty-five under the direction of Rudolph Ringwall, assistant director of the orchestra, before they made other plans. Nikolai Sokoloff, regular conductor, already had been engaged for a summer season in San Francisco.

All expenses for the five weeks of open air music will be met from municipal funds. City council has appropriated $10,000 with which to build grandstands with special sounding boards in Gordon and Edgewater Parks, large and centrally located units of Cleveland's 2,900 acre park chain.

The orchestra will play seven programs a week, alternating in these two parks. They will be mostly night concerts, though some afternoon ones will be arranged for the children. Popular music will prevail.

Living 'Dead Man' Puzzles Doctors; May Recover If He Lives Six Years

(International News Service)

CAMDEN, N. J., June 3.—In the county hospital for the insane at Lakeland near here is a patient termed by physicians, a living dead man, or "a human oyster." The victim is suffering from what is probably the rarest malady known to medical science—dementia praecox catatatonic. Hospital records list his identity as Joseph Kade, 28, but physicians refuse to divulge his address or admit what his name really is.

Sufferers from this mysterious ailment which has puzzled medical men throughout the world—have been very few—so few that physicians have had very little opportunity to delve into the cause and cure of the disease.

Famous physicians from all over the world have visited Kade to study his case but returned home more puzzled than when they first viewed the patient. All of them, however, have come to agree that if the patient can be kept alive for six years he will recover.

Kade was taken to the cooper hospital her last November—literally a living corpse. He was deaf, blind, paralyzed. All his nerves and muscles were numb, his jaws were so tightly locked that he had to be fed with liquids by a tube through his nostrils.

Since that time, doctors says, he has not even twitched an eyelash.

His heart action, pulse and breathing, however, are normal. Experiments of all kinds have been resorted to in an effort to rouse his numbed faculties but without result.

Physicians now agree that the only thing that can be done is to keep him alive for six years when he will recover the use of his nerves and muscles.

D. Grant Barry, chief of the department of mental diseases of the Philadelphia General Hospital has carefully diagnosed the case and predicts the man will recover if fed for six years as he is apparently in normal physican condition.

Dr. Barry, however, carefully explains that if Kade lives six years he will become possessed of super-human strength and will have to be strapped securely until he recovers.

Needles stuck in the victim's body have no effect. Guns discharged close to his ears also failed to awaken the man. Doctors have crossed Kade's fingers, his legs and tilted his head, to return a week later and find them in the same position they left him.

Members of the Shenango Presbytery will be special guests for the occasion. More than 50 visiting clergymen are expected. The improvements to the building include a new kitchen, gymnasium, auditorium, heating plant, pipe organ, three school rooms and an addition to the church building. Rheumatism can't be rubbed away

Are you one of those unfortunates who suffer with pains in your muscles and joints, making you miserable, less efficient, interfering with your working hours, ruining your sleep?

You may have tried many things without relief. Why not try S.S.S.? For more than 100 years it has been giving relief in thousands of cases, as testified to in unsolicited letters of gratitude.

"I suffered from rheumatism for a good many years. At times my joints would swell so, I couldn't walk. I tried most everything. Went to Hot Springs and finally I decided to try S.S.S. I took a course. In a short time the rheumatic pains entirely left me. I also had a breaking out on my hands for years that nothing would heal, but now this has disappeared, and I am sure that it was S.S.S. which removed the cause. I am now in perfect health, and want to add that I have tried all kinds of medicines but I think S.S.S. is the best." Carl C. Campbell, 115 West Main Street, Johnson City, Tenn.

S.S.S. is purely vegetable. It is extracted from the fresh roots of medicinal plants and herbs and gives to Nature what she needs in building you up so that your system throws off the cause.

S.S.S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

Juniors And Seniors Dine In Spanish Garden Here

Dr. H. E. Helling Reminiscences About First Little Red Schoolhouse

Reception To Faculty And Seniors Follows the Banquet At Methodist Church

ELLWOOD CITY, June 3.—Over two hundred juniors and seniors enjoyed the annual banquet tendered by the junior class to the departing seniors Thursday night in the dining hall of the First Methodist church.

Cliff Swick had transformed the hall into a fragrant garden scene of Spanish origin, with low-hung ceiling massed with mountain laurel dotted here and there with lights hidden in crimson roses, the entire mass upheld by silver-trunked trees. The waitresses were a bevy of sophomore girls attired in bouffant black taffeta frocks with neckerchiefs of pastel shades, and roses behind their ears. At each place was a crimson rose, and during the serving of a delicious menu programs were distributed and circulated for the autographs of friends.

Tony Pasta, president of the Junior class officiated as toastmaster introducing Dr. H. E. Helling, who, on behalf of the board of education, took the guests back to the year 1892 when he attended grades in the little old red brick school house which was then situated on the location of the A. E. Conner home at the corner of Fountain avenue and Fifth street today. It was then known as "The Hazel Dell school", as that village had a post-office on this side of the Connequinessing creek before Ellwood City boasted one. In 1893 the West End school was built; in 1897 the Circle school; in 1902 the Central school; in 1920 the North Side school; in 1924 the Hartman school until the peak of perfection was reached this year in the completion of the new Lincoln Junior High school. In the old days the valuation of school property was placed at $700. Today, after a period of 34 years the schools of Ellwood City are valued at one and one half millions of dollars. Dr. Helling went on to state that it took the planning of years to make possible the sumptious banquets of the graduating classes of today. If the first graduating class, which was in 1894, and boasted three pupils, could have looked ahead thirty years, what a surprise they would have had. Touching a serious note Dr. Helling said "Think, youngsters, follow the crowd—think for yourselves, and some day you'll be in the lead".

Concluding a brief address of welcome to the seniors, Mr. Pasta introduced David Jones, president of the Senior class to express his thanks in a few graceful phrases. Miss Moore, representing the faculty gave some clever toasts to the departing seniors.

The Reception

At the conclusion of the menu the entire assemblage went to the Sons of Columbus hall where a balloon-hung carnival retreat awaited them, and the Royal Serenaders orchestra played peppy tunes. Little Mary Jean Johnson contributed to the success of the evening with several solo dance numbers. A little playlet also provided much entertainment. After a program of cards and dancing the strenuous evening came to a close with much popping of balloons and sliding on the slippery floors, which only went to prove that juniors and seniors are not so dignified after all.

Faculty members present were: Prof. and Mrs. Ray Smith, Prof. and Mrs. O. E. Bartel, Prof. and Mrs. Earl Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Merle Frick, Mr. and Mrs. H. Martin Lee, the Misses Hazel Burrows, Helen Sponcler, Jessie Moore, Lucile Gibson, C. Eisengarde and Juanita Bonzall. Board of Education members present were: Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Smith, Dr. and Mrs. H. E. Helling, Mr. and Mrs. Hemmerly and Mr. and Mrs. Blaine Hancher.

Nagel entered a plea of guilty to the charge of driving while intoxicated, but requested a hearing on the manslaughter charge. It was then decided that a hearing and inquest would be held at the same time with Alderman McMichael taking the testimony of the witnesses with Coroner J. ELLWOOD CITY, Pa., June 3.—At the opening Ladies' Day at the Country club yesterday the new Grand piano which was half paid for by the 1926 and 25 committees headed by Mrs. B. J. Bell was used publicly for the first time. The balance is to be paid as quickly as possible and the 1927 committee asked for personal donations. Yesterday over $70 was received toward the piano.

During the card playing yesterday afternoon the ladies who didn't care to play were entertained in the Ladies lounge with games and contests. Mrs. J. A. Gelbach won a gift in the flower contest, a sentimental story of a man and a maid, whose ardent courtship was told by names of flowers.

"LITTLE BILL" IS "BIG HOPE" FOR DAVIS CUP

"Little Bill" Johnston, who first flashed across the tennis horizon in 1915 when he won the national championship, and who broke into Davis Cup circles seven years ago, is more than a "possibility" for the Davis Cup team this year. He's a "hope" in the matches. For it was Johnston who turned back La Coste and Borotra in 1925 and again last year—when Bill Tilden fell before La Coste's tantalizing game.

PETERS ADVENTURES IN ANIMAL LAND

By Florence Smith Vincent

JEALOUS OF A BAG OF SEEDS

Such a jolly tale was it that Fox had been telling that for some time the Boy had not given a thought to the Dogs. Now, as Cutie gave the warning, he nimbly climbed over into the hollow and stood with his brush-tailed friend upon the ledge peeping over.

"Better to be upon the safe side," he said. "All we have to do now, should any of the pack look up, is to duck our heads. Don't those hounds look foolish running around in circles like that?"

"So they do, from a safe distance, but not when you are running for your life away from them," declared the Fox. "Hullo! That's queer! They are right on the spot where you and I stood talking. They must have picked up my scent. They should have started for the fence, but they are going straight the other way. Why, I haven't been on the further side of the stone wall this whole day. Now they are tearing along the side of the brook. They are 'cold' on the trail there, too. I crossed way down stream early this morning. Look at them now, will you? They are leaping about that low bush like wild coyotes. Can it be they think I am in there?"

Woof! Woof! Grr! Grr! Bow, wow, wow!

"Certainly the pack can't be doing all the japping and barking over nothing at all!" exclaimed the Boy. "There must be someone hiding in that brush. Oh, Cutie, look! That largest Dog of them all has dragged something out of the bush and now all the pack have jumped it. Oh, dear me! I hope it isn't a rabbit. It's white! I am afraid it is, poor little thing. I just can't watch those brutes tearing it to pieces." Peter covered his eyes, but dropped his hands quickly when Fox gave an angry bark.

"Rabbit nothing! I know now what those Dogs have been chasing all this while, and it hasn't been me at all. They haven't given my scent even so much as a sniff. At last I have discovered what that Two-Legs was doing this morning. I must have been as stupid as an Earth Worm not to have guessed it before. I saw him dragging a white bundle on the ground behind him, and I thought at the time he was behaving strangely for a Human. He walked slowly this way, then turned in the opposite direction and then passed about in circles. He walked by the side of the brook and climbed the flat rock. I do believe he covered every square foot of the land hereabouts. But I thought it was none of my business, and, besides, I have found it never pays to poke my nose into a Two-Leg's business, and so I trotted off until he had left. But the bundle he was trailing behind him was a bag of anise seeds, as sure as I'm alive. And its scent is stronger than mine. Great brush-tails! That I should ever have lived to be so shamed, and not by another Four-Foot, either, but just by a bag of old seeds."

Fox turned toward the Boy and laid a paw upon his arm.

"Say, Boy, make me a promise, will you? If ever you meet another Fox don't tell him that the pack followed the trail of anise seeds instead of mine. Never should I be able to hold up my head again—I, who have so often led the Dogs of the country a merry chase!"

NEW CASTLE TO PLAY BUTLER HERE SATURDAY

Locals Hope To Eliminate Jinx

JAMIESON WILL TWIRL BATTLE

New Castle's O. & P. league team will play the Butler Bruin Oils here on Saturday afternoon, at 3 o'clock, daylight savings time. Centennial field will be the scene of the game.

The game here Saturday in all reality will determine just which team will go to the bottom of the league. New Castle to date has played ten league contests and the Cleveland Tellings game is the one credited to the Castles on the rig.* side of the ledger. Butler has played eleven games this season in the league and have emerged victorious in but one game.

Both Butler and New Castle have been "jinxed" this year. The New Castle boys have played a snappy brand of ball, and have lost three games of recent date by one-run margins. Butler also has been having "tough breaks" in their battles.

Lack Hitting Powers

The locals lack the necessary hitting strength, while Butler needs a little strengthening in the pitching.

Manager "Molly" Meis plans to send Mark Jamieson back to the knoll on Saturday. Jamieson has been pitching fine ball of late, but New Castle cannot get him enough runs to win the old game. Jamieson was the victim of a recent three-hit game, and on one other occasion the big boy was defeated by a lone tally.

Lawrence, the peppery second-baseman has sufficiently recovered to be back in the lineup Saturday. Lawrence was injured last Saturday in the Youngstown-New Castle game, when a visiting player crashed into him at second base on a close play. The doctor diagnosed Lawrence's injury as a pulled muscle in his neck and shoulder. With Lawrence back in the game the locals will present a better hitting team. The former Toledo boy can hit the ball, and when he does connect it generally sings a merry song on its way to the pasture.

The Butler team with a revamped lineup will come to New Castle on Saturday full of confidence and also to chase the jinx that has followed them all year. You can't lose them all, is an old saying, neither can you win them all.

Tomorrow will mark the initial appearance of the Butler team in New Castle. The Butlerites were only admitted to the league this season when the Akron General Tires decided to play an independent schedule. Just who will take the mound for the Butler team tomorrow is unknown, but it is likely to be VanDyke or Miller.

Latzo To Defend Title Tonight In Bout With Dundee

Pete Latzo Favored To Defeat Joe Dundee In Polo Grounds Bout

BY DAVIS J. WALSH
Sports Editor Internat'al News Service

NEW YORK, June 3.—In the polite, drawing room atmosphere that is modern boxing will be born tonight a stepchild. It has been bequeathed some of the wayward tendencies of an older and less formal day when a fighter was a man who might have to prove it on the nearest street corner as well as inside the ropes; when intrigue and the prize ring were twain.

Tonight at the old Polo grounds, Pete Latzo, of Scranton, Pa., will defend his world's welterweight championship against Joe Dundee, of Baltimore, and in order to circumvent dirty work at the cross roads, if at all, the utmost precaution has been taken to keep the challenger in cloistered seclusion. He has become a man completely surrounded by flat feet and it even is intimated that Baltimore plain clothes men will stand guard over him at the ringside. It seems that parties unknown, alike to Latzo and Dundee, have declared eternal vendetta on the challenger's camp.

They set upon Dundee's manager, Max Waxman, in a Broadway hotel some weeks ago, carved a few choice cold cuts and withdrew, leaving Waxman with his life and the impression that his popularity might not be universal.

Tonight that energetic promoter, Signor Humbert Fugazy, is putting on another of his fistic treats, this time at the Polo Grounds in New York City. As you know, Mr. Peter Latzo, of Scranton, Pa., is defending his world's welterweight title against Mr. Joseph Dundee of Baltimore, Md., and though many seem to think that Mr. Dundee will knock Mr. Latzo for a row of polo ponies, I cannot see it that way myself. Dundee's backers probably base their opinions on the fact that their man technically knocked out the w. k. Mickey Walker in eight rounds, whereas the best that Mr. Latzo could do was to defeat the popular Mickey on points in ten rounds.

But Mr. Dundee happened to come along a month after Mr. Latzo had "softened up" Mr. Walker, as the boys say, and anybody who gets himself knocked out in one round even by Eddie Roberts, as Mr. Dundee did, is not going to win Pete Latzo's title, to my way of thinking. And don't forget that Latzo knocked out Willie Harmon, while Dundee merely won the decision from Willie. However, most of the interest in this fight seems to center on the challenger's chances, so let us take a look at Mr. Samuel Lazzaro, which is Dundee's real name, and see how he stacks up.

Joe is an Italian-American who lives in Baltimore, and he is managed by the beligerent Max Waxman, who was recently the victim of a cowardly stabbing attack by one or more men in a New York hotel. Joe's chief claim to ring greatness, besides his feat of stopping ex-champion Mickey Walkers, was his game come-back against Eddie Roberts, in their second bout, which took place before a packed house in Madison Square Garden. In the fourth round, Roberts knocked Dundee down with a right to the jaw. Joe showed that he was made of true championship timber when he lasted out the round, and then went on to win the decision.

Dundee has been training in a tiny gymnasium over a delicatessen store in Baltimore, the same place where Joe Gans, Kid Williams, Billy Whistler, Harry Scroggs, and Young Peter Jackson worked out in the days gone by. He is a smart, keen boxer and his fight with the clever Slovakian champion should be full of thrills.

Feg Murray Says—

If Jack Kearns really wants some of Dempsey's money, he should personally insult the ex-champion and take a sock on the jaw. Then he could probably get a lump sum.

Tonight's Puzzle — By Feg Murray

SPORTS DONE BROWN

The New York Yankees are leading the American league in batting—as far as team averages are concerned—and are cornering the homerun market by virtue of the slugging of Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig.

But here is an interesting angle. The Athletics according to the last official statistics issued when this was written are running neck and neck with the Yanks in total number of base hits and runs scored. And Connie's men lead by a wide margin in the number of two-base hits.

The Mackmen, according to the figures, had played in two more games than the Hugmen but the edge over the Yanks in the departments mentioned is enough to take care of that and leave the Athletics and New York club even up.

The Mackmen have stolen almost double the number of bases pilfered by Huggins' maulers.

All of which indicates that rotten pitching is killing the Athletics' chances of overhauling the Yankees.

Given consistant performances from Rommel, Grove and Gray to aid Rube Walberg the Mackmen might now be fighting it out with the Yanks.

While the battle between Honey Boy Finnegan and Red Chapman, in Brooklyn June 8, is not being officially billed as a match for the featherweight championship, the winner will no doubt be considered the leading claimant to the title, which has been bobbing around unattached for months.

New York boxing officials have finally got wise to themselves and realize that they cannot name a champion. They can, however, steer future bouts in such a way eventually Chapman or Finnegan will emerge a recognized champion.

Among the other boys who might have a look-in at this time are Benny Bass, Sammy Fuller and Andy Routis.

Colored Stars To Play Ryantown

The National Radiator Colored Stars will play the Ryantown team at 6:30 o'clock tonight in a postponed Twilight League game. The game will be staged on the Radiator Field.

County League Battles At Ellwood, Wampum And Croton

BESSEMER HAS FIRM GRIP ON FIRST PLACE

Having made the break that gave them a good sized margin over Wampum for first place in the Lawrence County League, Bessemer will play the Pennsylvania railroad team at four p. m., at Mahoningtown, Saturday afternoon. The railroaders are in fifth place and having defeated Croton, Wednesday, will go into the game and make a hard effort to set back Bessemer which, at this time, looks like the class of the circuit.

Energy will tackle Ellwood City at Ellwood and as both teams returned to their respective dugouts with victories Wednesday a real battle is in prospect. For several years Energy has been the nemesis of the Tubers and a hot game is expected at Ewing Park.

The Indie-Ayes will travel to Wampum. The former is in sixth place while Wampum is trailing Bessemer. Bob Robertson's team of clouters lost to Ellwood Wednesday and the Indie-Ayes fell to Energy.

Neshannocks look good to defeat the Croton outfit at Croton as the Croton boys have apparently not hit their stride and have lost seven games and won one. It is probable they will brace up and try to stop the Neshannocks who occupy third place.

All the games, excepting the Mahoningtown tilt, will tsart at three o'clock. The umpires assigned for duty follow: At Mahoningtown: McCormick and Diana; at Ellwood City, Evans and Kroesen; at Wampum, Hudson and McCarthy and at Croton, Patterson and McCann.

The first named umpire has been assigned as umpire-in-chief.

Central Presbyterians Take Church League Victory At Colonial Field

The Central Presbyterians defeated the Croton M. E. team 11 to 5 in a Church league encounter played on Thursday night at Colonial field. The game was a free slugging affair.

Shoaff assumed the pitching burden for the Presbyterians and although found for ten hits kept them scattered. Ross and Miller both tried a hand at pitching for the Croton team.

Cuba the Croton shortstop was the slugging star of the game with three doubles. Frazier, Shoaff, Johns and Miller also hit timely.

L Waner first up in the seventh, P. Waner walked. Wright beat out an infield hit and Grantham's single scored the Waner boys and Grantham took third. Grantham went out, Thompson to Sands but Wright scored and Harris' triple scored Traynor.

Williams Clouts Tenth Home Run

Despite Heavy Hitting By Phillies, Pirates Take Victory

"TED" LYONS WINS NINTH VICTORY

By LES CONKLIN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, June 3.—The venerable Cy Williams, perennial circuit clouter of the Phillies, is setting the pace in the National League home run race today with ten four-base smacks. The slugging of the thirty-eight-year old veteran is all the more remarkable when it is taken into account that he bats only against right handers. If Cy were in the lineup every day he might be running neck and neck with the great Ruth in the home run marathon.

Cy's homer with two on gave the Phils their only scores against the Pirates yesterday and they lost 7 to 3, getting but five hits off Carmen Hill. The Bucs increased their lead over the Cardinals to four games.

Dutch Ruether of the Yankees, who was erroneously reported to be losing his stuff, turned in a two-hit masterpiece against the Tigers, winning 2 to 0. The veteran southpaw registered his third shutout of the season and confounded numerous unofficial referees who had already counted nine over him because of his indifferent performances of late.

Lyons Wins Again

Ted Lyons won his ninth victory of the season as the White Sox put the bee on Boston, 7 to 2. The Sox are now travelling faster than scandal at a sewing circle, having copped nine of their last eleven games.

A young fellow named Tris Speaker was given a tryout at first base on the Washington team and he made such a favorable impression that it is believed he will be retained by the club. He handled twelve chances without a slip and helped engineer five double plays. The Senators, with their entire lineup shaken up like a home made cocktail, won from the Browns in a romp, 11 to 2.

The Indians handed Sammy Gray of the Athletics a merry pasting but Joe Pate, his successor, stood for little or no nonsense and the A's slugged their way to an 8 to 4 triumph. It was Philadelphia's first victory over Cleveland this season.

Lindstrom, Harper and Hornsby of the Giants swung a wicked shillalah against the Reds, each contributing four hits. Hornsby's collection included a double and a triple. The Giants won out in the Twelfth, 5 to 4, and they have yet to be beaten by the Reds this season.

Umpire Hart pulled a new wrinkle by spiking Hornsby when the Giants' captain slid into third. Hornsby's left hand was severely lacerated but he said he would play today.

The Cardinals, Cubs, Robins and Braves were idle.

Police Come Back; Win Ball Game

Defeat Leslie House Stars In Combat On Thursday Afternoon

It was a reincarnated battling police baseball team that struck its stride Thursday afternoon in a game played at the Sampson street grounds and took over the Leslie House Stars, an aggregation with some players of real ability in its line-up, by the score of 25-11.

A large and enthusiastic crowd witnessed the contest and cheered the efforts of both teams. Police team members played a slashing, banging game that would do credit to the world's champions.

Since the defeat at the hands of the Garbage Department team the police have been working out plans that should make the team one of the real good teams of the city and vicinity.

Manager John Moore showed rare ability as manager, and Muggsy McGraw of the New York Giants hasn't a thing on him. He made a switch in batting order and went on the mound himself. And what he did to the opponents of his team was plentiful.

Although it was quite a number of years since Moore had attempted to take part in a baseball game, he performed in a manner that seemed but little more than a miracle.

Serving the opposing batsmen with slow, hard and curved balls in various different combinations that completely mystified them, he had 18 strikeouts to his credit.

Running catches by Lieutenant Harper of two difficult flies, which if missed would have meant possible defeat, were among the startling features of the game. In bad holes in two different innings, Moore pitched himself out, not allowing a man to reach home, even though the bases were full.

Dukes, Samuels, Harper, James and Moore proved a heavy hitting combination for the police, Dukes smashing out three home runs. Steiner played a fast game at third, adding materially to the victory of his team. Thompson performed like a veteran behind the bat. The police also had three double plays to their credit.

The Leslie House Stars tried four pitchers in an effort to stop the heavy batting of the police, including Tommy Blake, David Thomas and Frank Robinson. None of the four found it possible to stop the heavy-hitting policemen from knocking the ball into every part of the field and for safe hits. Harrigan, at third for the Stars, was the outstanding player of the game for the losers.

The police aggregation is ready and willing to meet any team in the city and would like to arrange games for any week day afternoon. The team would like to play at least once a week.

The umpiring was in the hands of Walter McAnaney and Charles Levine and proved satisfactory.

Ryantown Downs Indies 13 To 12

Slugfest On Cedar Street Grounds Goes To Ryantown

Ryantown defeated the Lawrence Indies 13 to 12, in a slugfest on the Cedar street grounds on Thursday night.

The game proved to be one of the weirdest of the year with both teams doing plenty of heavy slugging. The Ryantown team got away to a nine run lead in the early innings, but the Lawrence Indies came back strong at the finish and just about upset the Ryantown ship.

Four pitchers found their way into the contest, with each team showing two hurlers. Extra base hits were plenty with a total of nine being hammered to all corners of the field.

The game was marred by 12 errors, the Indies had eight misplays and the Ryantown boys kicked up four.

Boone And Waters Pitch Fine Game As Edenburg Takes Victory

Edenburg defeated the West Pittsburg Garlands last night in a Twilight League game played on the West Pittsburg field. The final score was 5 to 3. The game was stopped in the seventh inning, due to darkness.

Opportune hitting at the right moments gave the Edenburg crew the victory. Butera, on the hill for the Garlands, was found for nine hits. Boone and Waters divided the pitching duties for the winners.

J. Park and Murdock led the attack on Butera with three hits apiece. Richards had two hits for the Garlands.

Hillsville had two big innings in which they scored all of their runs, the first and the fourth. Troop B tallied in the first and sixth chapters.

Heavy hitting by Genevo, Caruso, Riley and Byers featured the game.

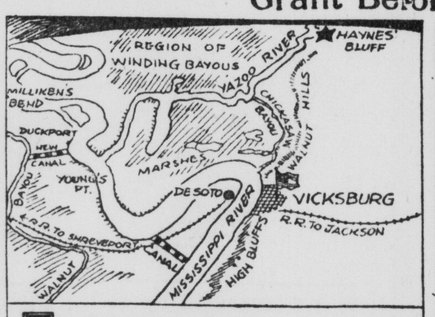
HIGH LIGHTS OF HISTORY

Registered U. S. Patent Office.

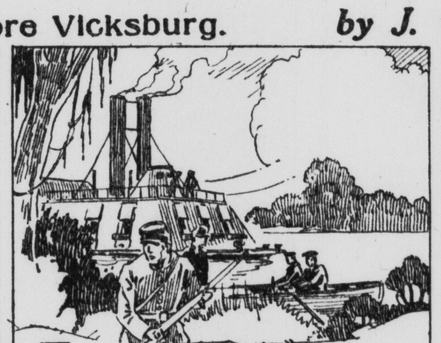
Grant Before Vicksburg.

by J. CARROLL MANSFIELD

EARLY IN FEBRUARY, 1863, GEN. GRANT CAME TO MILLIKEN'S BEND AND MOVED THE UNION ARMY DOWN THE MISSISSIPPI TO YOUNG'S POINT ON THE LOUISIANA SHORE. SHERMAN'S REPULSE AT CHICKASAW BLUFFS HAD SHOWN THAT VICKSBURG COULD NOT BE SUCCESSFULLY ASSAULTED FROM THE NORTH BUT GRANT WAS DETERMINED TO FIND A WAY TO REACH THE CITY.



DURING FEBRUARY AND MARCH, THE UNION ENGINEERS WERE HARD AT WORK ON THE DIGGING OF A PASSAGE THROUGH THE NETWORK OF BAYOUS ON THE WESTERN SHORE WHICH WOULD ENABLE FEDERAL SUPPLY SHIPS TO GET BELOW VICKSBURG WITHOUT RUNNING THE GAUNTLET OF THE CONFEDERATE BATTERIES ON THE BLUFFS. THIS GREAT PROJECT WAS RUINED BY THE SPRING FLOODS.



WHILE WORK ON THE CANAL WAS PROGRESSING, COMBINED NAVAL AND MILITARY EXPEDITIONS WERE SEARCHING THROUGH THE BAYOUS NORTH OF VICKSBURG FOR A NAVIGABLE WATERWAY OVER WHICH TROOPS COULD BE TRANSPORTED TO A POINT ABOVE HAYNES' BLUFF AND THENCE DIRECTED AGAINST THE REAR OF THE SOUTHERN STRONGHOLD.

GEN. WM. W. LORING, C.S.A.

ALL OF THESE ATTEMPTS FAILED. ONE EXPEDITION REACHED THE JUNCTION OF THE TALLAHATCHIE AND YALLABUSHA RIVERS BUT WAS REPELLED BY THE GUNS OF FORT PEMBERTON, A HASTILY CONSTRUCTED WORK OF EARTH AND COTTON BALES, DEFENDED BY 1,500 CONFEDERATES UNDER GEN. LORING.

More Stop Signs For Pittsburgh

Motorists Not As Enthusiastic As City Councilmen; Pittsburgh Notes

By CARL L. TURNER.
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PITTSBURGH, June 3.—City fathers who lean backwards to lighten the cares of Pittsburgh's thousands of motorists have purchased and are having installed some 30 new electric stop and go traffic beacons.

The city fathers and public works deparment seem to have the edge over the motorists in unrestrained enthusiasm provoked by the purchase. Many motorists claim the more traffic lights the city gets the worse the conjestion will become.

By way of showing their appreciation for the new red and green lights hundreds of motorists are avoiding suburban streets guarded by the gaudy beacons. This in itself will do much to lessen conjestion on widely travelled streets the city fathers say.

The old Sixth street bridge, long the main artery between the "Golden Triangle" and the Northside, stands anchored near the mouth of the Allegheny river, mute evidence of the twentieth century accomplishments of engineers.

When the bridge had served its purpose at Sixth street it was lowered on three specially constructed steel barges to be carted down the Ohio river to Coraopolis where it will span a section of the larger stream.

Without a mishap the huge span was lowered fifteen feet to the barges. Workmen are removing the upper section to allow the old bridge to float under another span at the Allegheny's mouth.

Pittsburgh now has two huge tunnels devoted to motor vehicles, the newest being the Armstrong tubes, recently opened. The other is the Liberty tunnel, through South Hills, known to engineers all over the country.

Armstrong Tubes, really two parallel tunnels, one for east and one for westbound traffic, link the Tenth street bridge over the Monongahela river with Forbes street and the downtown district.

Man Slain In Fight Over Affections Of Widow, Mother Of 10

NEW YORK, June 3.—A battle over the affections of a widow with ten children resulted in the death of Alfred Reilly, 41, who boarded with the widow and the arrest of William Kendegan, 30 charged with suspicion of homicide.

The widow, Mrs. Margaret Daley Lynch, 40, was held as a material witness.

Kendegan used a bread knife according to the police and Reilly his fists and pieces of furniture. Mrs. Lynch was unable to separate the men.

N. Y. STOCKS

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, June 3.—The rally in stock prices which was in progress at the close of Thursday's session made further headway in the early trading today. The opening prices were generally higher and new active and aggressive upward moves were promptly inaugurated in the speculative leaders of the rails and industrials, with General Motors the most important standard-bearer of the latter group.

Houston Oil reached its objective of 150, having advanced from a low of 60¾ in about two months. Delaware and Hudson led a brilliant advance in the rails, in which Chicago, Northwestern, Lackawanna and Southern Railway participated.

The ticker facilities were strained to the limit to keep abreast of actual transactions in the first period. The commission houses again reported a heavy influx of both buying and selling from outside points, and the turnover in the first half hour was heavy.

NORTHEAST, Pa., June 3.—Marion Heard, 20, of R. F. D., Northeast, is being held by Northeast police on an open charge, pending an investigation concerning his activities around Northeast during the past few months.

The youth was caught near 20-mile creek with two chickens, according to police, while he admitted that he had raided other chicken coops in the vicinity during the past few months.

According to police, about 15 henneries have been raided in the section during the past two months.

You can tell. The upper class is the one that doesn't cheer lustily when some critic berates it.

The Reward for Investing in REAL ESTATE

Apartments

— Profit —

EX-PRESIDENT Grover Cleveland once said, "No Investment on earth is so safe, so sure, so certain to enrich its owner as undeveloped realty. I always advise my friends to place their savings in realty near some growing city. There is no such savings bank anywhere."

The rise in real estate values has been the basis of more fortunes than any one other form of investment. Inherently sound, unmindful of every little business flux, real estate progresses steadily, sometimes spectacularly, toward the goal of profit. Offerings under our jurisdiction have had a remarkable record of success.

Have Conference On Sewer Plans

Union Township Seeking Arrangement To Connect To City System

COUNCIL ASKS FOR EXPERT'S OPINION

Attorney Rufus McKinley and Civil Engineer C. H. Milholland, representatives of Union Township today conferred with members of city council relative to the desire of township supervisors to connect with New Castle sewers.

After a short session councilmen decided to place the proposal before Fuller & McClintock, now engaged in making a survey of local sewer conditions to determine whether or not the sewer system of New Castle is adequate to handle outside sewage.

The township, at present, is interested chiefly in a sewer extending from the terminus of West Washington street at the city line to Scotland Lane. They would like to have this sewer, when built and placed in operation, connect with the West Washington street sewer.

According to a plan exhibited sections in Union Township, lying north of West Washington Street would drain to State street and the Oakland section would drain thru Sunnyside into the New Castle main sewer near the Franklin bridge.

It is probable that the Union Township sanitary sewer system will be built by bond issue and if the city sewers are capable of handling the flow property owners will be required to pay a tapping fee, in vogue here, to the city of New Castle through an agreement reached with Union township officials.

Until Fuller and McClintock present their report and supervisors, McKinley and Milholland confer with the firm, there will be no action toward permitting the connection at West Washington street, taken by city council.

Seize Tree Dweller After Raids On Hens

Oddly Clad Recluse Who Passed Four Years Without Shelter

ASTORIA, Ore., June 3.—Hundreds of visitors appeared at the Clatsop county jail to obtain a view of the "Walluski Wisp," who for four years had lived in the heavily wooded sections east of this city and was captured by ranchers.

The "wisp," apparently about 35, and in excellent physical condition, said that as far as he could remember, he had had no shelter save the trees during the four winters and summers of his furtive existence.

His skill at raiding chicken coops, milk houses, pantries and gardens is attested by his 200 pounds of muscle and bone.

Examination resulted in statements that he did not remember how he had come to this vicinity or anything concerning his name or antecedents other than that he had "some brothers and sisters" and that the word Pittsburgh was familiar. He also professed to be familiar with Portland, but said he could only recollect being there a short time and changing a uniform for civilian clothes.

When found he was wearing an odd collection of vests, coats and overcoats, but a burlap "kiltie" and a pair of old shoes were his only protection from the waist down.

Retired Bradford Officer Suicides At Cemetery Grave

(International News Service)

BRADFORD, Pa., June 3.—The police department here was in mourning today, following the finding of the body of Daniel F. Blake, 72, a retired member of the force, beside the graves of his wife and two sons at the St. Bernard Catholic cemetery.

Blake apparently had taken his own life, making careful preparations before he laid down for the last time. The old man had trimmed the grass and decorated the graves in his family plot. A bullet through the right temple sped him on his way to meet them.

Blake was last seen Wednesday noon, when he had gone to the cemetery, carrying a sickle. His absence was not noticed until a member of the force tried to find him, to give him his pension. Blake had served in the police department here for 20 years, retiring January 1, 1924.

'Find' May Alter History, Belief

BOSTON, Mass., June 3.—The key to the baffling characters of a strange half-semetic, half Egyptian language which flourished nearly 3,000 years ago, and which science has never been able to decipher, may rest today with Professor Kirsoph Lake, head of the Harvard-Michigan expedition to St. Sinai, Arabia.

Harvard university authorities said the find might throw an entirely new light on Moses and Biblical history.

If Professor Lake's fragments fit into existing gaps, it was possible, archaeologists here said today, that they might not only remake history but reveal a new origin of modern languages.

Governor Hunts For Bureau Head

State Department Of Mines Needs Superintendent; State Capital Notes

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, June 3.—Selection of the proper man to head the State Department of Mines is being given very serious consideration, Governor John S. Fisher has made it known. However, he does not indicate when he will make the appointment to the $10,000 position created by amendments to the administrative code.

Under the code there will be a secretary of mines and two deputies, one in charge of anthracite matters and the other in charge of problems pertaining to bituminous production.

Three Capitol guides who fell under official displeasure for violating the State House anti-tip rule have been discharged "for the good of the service".

Those who were dismissed were H. I. Gerberich, of Dauphin, chief of the service, who has been a State house employe for 17 years; John J. Caufield, of Shenandoah, after 16 years of service, and W. H. Landis, a relatively new employe. They were alleged to have accepted tips from visitors.

The State Library and Museum, long kept in cramped quarters because of lack of funds, are to have a new lease of life, as a result of the beginning of a new appropriation year. Frederic A. Godcharles, in charge of both departments, is having his attaches bring huge piles of relics and unmounted skins from the museum basement, planning to have them properly displayed and mounted with funds he expects shortly. Modern conveniences are to be added to the library. Pre-revolutionary craft work is to be given a special vantage display point, as are the Indian relics, some of the most valuable in the world.

Imagination Barred As Evidence Basis In Divorce Suits

UNIONTOWN, Pa., June 3.—Imagination will not be accepted as evidence in divorce suits in Fayette county ruled Judge Thomas H. Hudson today in decreeing that all divorce evidence must be facts with nothing to be imagined.

The judge's ruling was provoked by a refusal of a divorce to Constantino Magazine, of Herbert, near here, on the grounds that a witness had seen Mrs. Emaa Magazine, accompanied by her young daughter, in an automobile with another man and that a man had been seen to enter her home. Neither of these incidents, the court ruled, was sufficient to substantiate a divorce action and he refused the husband a decree.

"We must have the facts, not imagination, in divorce suits," declared the court in refusing the decree.

Dollar Buys More Now Than It has Last Two Years

NEW YORK, June 3.—One buys more today for his dollar than for two years past, but this unit of American prosperity still is worth only 61.1 cents. The national industrial conference board announced this today, as the result of a survey.

The value of the dollar declined to 48.9 cents in July, 1920—the lowest since the pre-war vintage of 1914. The board finds that purchasing power of the dollar has been enhanced by the steady decline in average living costs throughout 1925 and 1926, which last April, however, were still 63.7 per cent higher than they had been in 1914."

Farm Animals Need Fixed Salt Amount

In an article calling attention to the fact that all kinds of livestock need salt, Prof. E. S. Good, head of the animal husbandry department of the Kentucky College of Agriculture and experiment station, says that working horses require about two ounces each daily. They throw off considerable salt in perspiration. An idle horse requires only about an ounce daily.

Cows giving milk and steers require an ounce daily. A sheep does well on half an ounce daily, while a pig requires only about an eighth of an ounce. Hogs are often provided salt in mineral mixtures. The Kentucky experiment station recommends a mixture of one part of salt, two parts of ground limestone and three parts of steam bone meal, all by weight.

Six level teaspoonfuls of barrel salt weigh about an ounce, which means that a working horse requires a dozen teaspoonfuls of salt daily.

Many farmers find that keeping salt in boxes before stock is the best and simplest way of caring for this requirement of animals.

It is not wise to allow animals all the salt they want after it has been withheld from them for any length of time. Hogs especially sometimes eat fatal quantities. Stock accustomed to salt obtain proper amounts to meet health requirements, when it is available in boxes at all times.

Dog Without Food Thirty Four Days

CANTON, S. D., June 3.—What is believed to be a record fast for a dog has been established in Norway township, near here, by the finding of a dog belonging to Helge Korslund which has been locked in the village hall without food or water for thirty-four days.

The dog disappeared more than a month ago and after a thorough search by its owner it was thought it had either been stolen or killed.

While playing about the town hall the sons of John Lundstrum heard a noise inside and upon looking through a window discovered the dog. The door was unlocked and the dog released and though greatly emaciated was able to make its way home, and take some nourishment.

Mr. Korslund believes the dog followed him into the town hall at the village elections a month ago and was locked in the building that night when the election judges went home.

New England conscience: "It's the other fellow's naughty neck, any way; let's break it."

Says King Ben Was In Hiding In Colony Home

(International News Service)

ST. JOSEPH, Mich., June 3.—"King" Benjamin Purnell was hiding in his House of David Colony while a nation-wide search supposedly was on for him, Thomas Atkin, former cult member testified today at the State's dissolution suit against the cult.

"Was Benjamin hiding in the colony for the last three years while warrants were out for his arrest?" Prosecutor George H. Bookwaler asked.

"Yes. I personally saw him, and I also saw young girls with him in the Diamond House during that time," the witness said.

Fisher Grants Slayer Respite

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Pa., June 3.—Because of a change in the meeting of the state board of pardons from June 15 to June 29, Governor John S. Fisher today issued a respite for Raymond Winters, Allegheny county slayer who was sentenced to die June 27. The Winter case is scheduled to come before the board at its next session.

Close Friendly Ties Broken When Train Kills Huntingtonian

CINCINNATI, June 2.—A Big Four passengar train ended a lifelong companionship when it struck two Huntington, W. Va., youths near here early today, killing Carl Hobart Qualls, 20, his cousin. The cousins were walking along the tracks in a freight yard at the time of the accident. Janey's body was hurled 30 feet. Qualls was brushed by the side of the engine and escaped with a bruised arm.

"Rowing While Drunk" Charged Against Man

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., June 3.—John Hamther, of this city, spent last night in the county jail here charged with "rowing while drunk."

Hamther was arrested yesterday while paddling up the Tennessee river, using a barrel stave for an oar.
